United Nations to Control Atom Bomb

How Our Money Is Spent in History's Greatest Mission of Mercy

Unrra, to which Canada and the U.S. are large contributors, is feeding thousands in war-torn countries of Europe where lack of food might lead to serious outbreaks. Above, happy faces greet a lunch at an Italian school.

Every effort is being made to restore Europe's farms to adequate production. Much modern machinery is brought in by Unrra, such as these tractors unloaded at Piraeus, Greece, the port of Athens.

Postwar living conditions are such that an epidemic might easily ravage Europe. Part of Unrra's disease prevention program is pictured above, where a stable at Kazuli, Greece, is sprayed in the anti-malaria campaign.

Britain, Canada, U.S. Keep Secret Of Manufacture

WASHINGTON (CP)—A proposal to share atomic and other scientific discoveries with all countries willing to do likewise and under agreements to be made by a special commission of the United Nations' Organization was proposed today in a joint statement by President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Prime Minister King.

This proposal, agreed upon after nearly a week's conversations among the three leaders, is substantially that which Mr. Attlee and Mr. King were reported to have brought to Washington from their October conferences in London.

The Prime Ministers sat with the President in his White House office when he received the press and read the statement.

Mr. King and Mr. Attlee are expected to leave for Ottawa by train tomorrow afternoon.

Issuance of the joint communique closed the three leaders' talks on atomic energy.

At the same time, they declared the three nations, which alone have knowledge of atomic bomb manufacture, would not share that knowledge until "it is possible to devise effective, reciprocal and enforceable safeguards acceptable to all nations."

Specific Proposals On 4 Points Sought
The commission which the three leaders proposed at the conclusion of their six-day conference would be charged with the duty of making specific proposals on these four points:

"1. For extending between all nations the exchange of basic scientific information (on all subjects) for peaceful ends.
"2. For control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to ensure its use only for peaceful purposes.
"3. For the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons and of all other major weapons adaptable to mass production.
"4. For effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and invasions."

In their 1,000-word statement setting forth the results of their discussions, the three chiefs of state prefaced their proposals by saying flatly:

"We are aware that the only complete protection for the civilized world from the destructive use of scientific knowledge lies in the prevention of war.
"No system of safeguards that can be devised will of itself provide an effective guarantee against production of atomic weapons by a nation bent on aggression.
"Nor can we ignore the possibility of the development of other weapons or of new methods of warfare, which may constitute as great a threat to civilization as the military use of atomic energy."

The statement made a distinction between what was called the "fundamental scientific information" about atomic developments and "the specialized information regarding the practical application of atomic energy."

The three leaders noted that actually the scientific information "has already been made available to the world," and they added that "it is our intention that all further information of

World Must Be Better Organized

But as for the detailed knowledge of practical application of atomic energy, the three asserted that should be kept secret until the world is better organized, through the United Nations, to receive it with strong assurances that it would not be used for destructive purposes.

Present at the conference with the three leaders were Secretary of State Byrnes, Admiral William D. Leahy, the President's Chief of Staff, and other officials.

Mr. Attlee was seated on the President's right and Mr. King on his left.

As silence fell, the President arose behind his desk and told the newsmen he would read a document signed by the Prime Ministers and himself.

Any questions, he said, would have to come later when reporters were familiar with the statement. He then read rapidly the entire text.

When he finished he held the text up for those in the room to see the signatures, then informed reporters that was all he had to say.

The three leaders completed their talks last midnight.

The proposals described in the statement presumably will be transmitted immediately to Russia and possibly to all other members of the United Nations.

In the main, these followed ideas which British sources had attributed to Prime Minister Attlee when he first arrived here, but they obviously included suggestions which had not come from him.

Mr. Attlee had been represented especially as believing that any system of international inspection would be impractical, yet the creation of such a system is given as one of the objectives of the United Nations' commission.

Throughout the statement, considerable emphasis was placed on the role which the United Nations should play if control of atomic energy is to succeed.

Weather officials today issued a gale warning for Georgia Strait, Queen Charlotte Strait, Johnstone Strait, Queen Charlotte Sound and the Hecate Strait area.

Southeast winds between 30 and 40 miles an hour are expected today, veering to the west and southwest and decreasing toward evening.

Atomic-Powered Auto Reported Driven On Streets of London

LONDON (CP) — The Daily Sketch said today an obscure Briton had driven an "atomic-powered" engineless automobile through the streets of London at ordinary speeds. No one in authority could confirm the report.

The newspaper identified the inventor as J. Wilson. It said the vehicle's mechanism consisted of a mysterious metal box three inches in diameter which had been fitted into the place ordinarily occupied by a gasoline engine. An invisible stream of atomic energy flowed from the box, the newspaper added.

Mr. Wilson has submitted blueprints of his invention to the Ministry of Fuel, the Daily Sketch said. A ministry spokesman said the department was "interested" in the idea, but could furnish no information on the claim.

Vancouver Dries Out

VANCOUVER (CP) — As rain clouds lifted over Vancouver today, transportation, communications and power systems, disrupted Wednesday by heavy snows in the mountains and a rain-slash gale on the coast, gradually returned to normal.

The rain and windstorm Wednesday plunged several sections of Vancouver into darkness when power circuits were cut off, possibly because of trees being blown across the lines.

Death for Rioters Decreed By British Palestine Leader

JERUSALEM (AP) — J. V. W. Shaw, acting British High Commissioner for Palestine, issued a "punishment by death" warning today to rioters in the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv, where street demonstrations broke out for the second day.

At least one person was killed and 50 were reported injured today as "thousands of persons" milled in the streets, defying a curfew order imposed after Wednesday night's outbreaks which resulted in the death of two Jews and injuries to 27 persons.

Unruly crowds again attacked government property, stoned barricades and stormed against several British buildings.

Long Inquest Hinted By Coroner Into Death of Myfanwy Sanders

Coroner E. C. Hart was non-committal today when asked if the inquest Friday morning into the death of 16-year-old Myfanwy Sanders was likely to be adjourned after identification and examination of the body.

"I may adjourn it three or four times," Dr. Hart said. "I do not know."

It had been suggested that an early adjournment might be made to await a report on whether or not the girl's body contained poison.

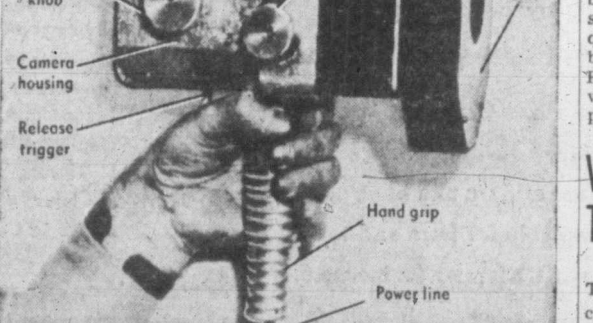

This suggestion, however, would appear to conflict with a rumor, not confirmed by the responsible authorities, that the cause of death had been established as asphyxia.

Reeve E. C. Warren of Saanich, said that many parents in Greater Victoria were worried about letting their children go about unescorted after dark in view of the hint of foul play in connection with the death of Myfanwy Sanders.

Chief Constable J. A. McLellan of the city police said that the city department had not been called upon by Saanich police to take any part in the investigation of the girl's death.

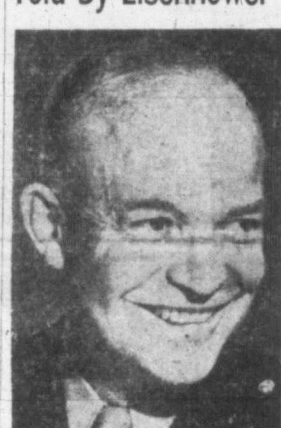

ALL HELPED SEARCH

Help of the city police, however, as well as the provincial and other municipal forces of the southern island and mainland was enlisted by the Saanich force in the search for the girl soon after her disappearance. It was understood that the Saanich police received reports while the girl was missing that she had been seen in the city and also

Russia Wants U.S. As Friend, Congress Told By Eisenhower

"Must not gamble on time to train" ... Gen. Eisenhower.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told Congress today "Russia has no slightest thing to gain by war with the United States," and wants to be a friend.

He added that "there will never be a war-between Great Britain and the United States."

Testifying in support of President Truman's request for universal military training, Gen. Eisenhower told the House Military Committee.

"I believe Russia's policy is friendship with the United States. There is in Russia a desperate and continuing concern for the lot of the common man, and they want to be friends with the United States."

The General said some Russians are concerned over criticism of the Soviets by the United States press. But he added "it is difficult" for Russians to understand a free press as it operates in the United States.

QUESTIONS ASKED

His references to the possibility of war with Britain or Russia were made in response to questions from committee members, principally Representative Parnell Thomas (Rep. N.J.), who asked: "Who do we have as potential aggressors?"

Washington State Treasurer Charged

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — State Treasurer Russell Fluent was charged in Superior Court here today with misappropriating public funds, and he and Vern A. Cole, Seattle broker, were charged in another information with conspiring to defraud the State of Washington.

The charges, filed by Thurston County Prosecutor Levy Johnson, were based on the payment to Cole of a broker's commission of $1,107.97 on a $7,351,096.46 securities sale last August.

No Indications As to When Unified Transport Will Start

No indication could be given today as to when Greater Victoria could expect to see its unified transportation system in operation, Ald. T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the transportation committee, said.

Although the committee is pushing action as fast as possible, a great deal remains to be done before a unified system can be in operation, he explained.

First of all the councils of the four municipalities concerned must approve the suggested routes, and confirm the appointment of the special committee which was recommended to draw up terms and specifications for the call of tenders. It was estimated that this would take at least two weeks, as it will be that length of time before all councils meet again.

REPORT MADE IN 1939

It was recalled that in 1939 R. W. Beck, an American utility engineer, was brought in to study Victoria's transportation system, and he presented a lengthy report to the council, together with

General Motors Closing Oshawa Plant As Ford Strike Continues

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — General Motors announced today that it is closing down all production departments in its Oshawa plant because of a shortage of motors and other parts due to strikes in Windsor, Ont. Some 2,000 employees are being laid off, effective tonight.

The announcement said the company has been unable to build up a sufficient backlog of motors and other parts to continue production.

Its motor plant at Windsor is one of those affected by the sympathy strike of some 8,000 members of Local 195 of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) in sympathy with the union security strike which has closed the Ford Motor Company of Canada plant at Windsor since Sept. 12.

Just Wednesday night officials of U.A.W. Local 222, organized in General Motors and two other Oshawa plants, announced its members had voted in favor of strike action in sympathy with Ford strikers and would await a call for action from the Ford national strike committee through the U.A.W. regional office.

Announcement by the company today said that all employees except office workers, maintenance employees and men engaged in rearrangement work in the plant reconversion program would be affected by the layoff.

Union Leaders Over 1st of 4 Hurdles

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Union leaders today were over the first of four hurdles toward final union approval of a settlement plan for the Ford Motor Company strike which has left 10,000 Ford workers idle since Sept. 12.

Wednesday night the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) Ford negotiation committee and the Ford strike committee of the Canadian Congress of Labor reached agreement on the settlement plan, details of which were carefully guarded. Major issues in the strike, which has brought 8,500 other Windsor area automobile plant workers out in a sympathy move, have been a union shop and check-off in the Ford plant.

Text of Declaration On Atom By Canadian, British, U.S. Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The text of the declaration on atomic energy issued today by President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Prime Minister King:

The President of the United States, the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, and the Prime Minister of Canada have issued the following statement:

1. We recognize that the application of recent scientific discoveries to the methods and practice of war has placed at the disposal of mankind means of destruction hitherto unknown, against which there can be no adequate military defence, and in the employment of which no single nation can, in fact, have a monopoly.

2. We desire to emphasize that the responsibility for devising means to insure that the new discoveries shall be used for the benefit of mankind, instead of as a means of destruction, rests not on our nations alone, but upon the whole civilized world. Nevertheless, the progress that we have made in the development and use of atomic energy demands that we take an initiative in the matter, and we have accordingly met together to consider the possibility of international action:

(1) To prevent the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes.

(2) To promote the use of recent and future advances in scientific knowledge, particularly in the utilization of atomic energy, for peaceful and humanitarian ends.

PEACE ONLY DEFENCE

3. We are aware that the only complete protection for the civilized world from the destructive use of scientific knowledge lies in the prevention of war. No system of safeguards than can be devised will of itself provide an effective guarantee against production of atomic weapons by a nation bent on aggression. Nor can we ignore the possibility of the development of other weapons, or of new methods of warfare, which may constitute as great a threat to civilization as the military use of atomic energy.

4. Representing, as we do, the three countries which possess the knowledge essential to the use of atomic energy, we declare at the outset our willingness, as a first contribution, to proceed with the exchange of fundamental scientific information and the interchange of scientists and scientific literature for peaceful ends with any nation that will fully reciprocate.

5. We believe that the fruits of scientific research should be made available to all nations, and that freedom of investigation and free interchange of ideas are essential to the progress of knowledge. In pursuance of this policy, the basic scientific information essential to the development of atomic energy has already been made available to the world. It is our intention that all further information of this character that may become available from time to time shall be similarly treated. We trust that other nations will adopt the same policy, thereby creating an atmosphere of reciprocal confidence in which political agreement and co-operation will flourish.

PRACTICAL USE

6. We have considered the question of the disclosure of detailed information concerning the practical industrial application of atomic energy. The military exploitation of atomic energy depends, in large part, upon the same methods and processes as would be required for industrial uses.

We are not convinced that the spreading of the specialized information regarding the practical application of atomic energy, before it is possible to devise effective, reciprocal and enforceable safeguards acceptable to all nations, would contribute to a constructive solution of the problem of the atomic bomb.

On the contrary we think it might have the opposite effect. We are, however, prepared to share, on a reciprocal basis with others of the United Nations, detailed information concerning the practical industrial application of atomic energy just as soon as effective enforceable safeguards against its use for destructive purposes can be devised.

7. In order to attain the most effective means of entirely eliminating the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes and promoting its widest use for industrial and humanitarian purposes, we are of the opinion that at the earliest practicable date a commission should be set up under the United Nations' Organization to prepare recommendations for submission to the organization.

The commission should be instructed to proceed with the utmost dispatch and should be authorized to submit recommendations from time to time dealing with separate phases of its work.

In particular the commission should make specific proposals:

(a) For extending between all nations the exchange of basic scientific information for peaceful ends.

(b) For control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to ensure its use only for peaceful purposes.

(c) For the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons and of all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction.

(d) For effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions.

STEP BY STEP

8. The work of the commission should proceed by separate stages, the successful completion of each one of which will develop the necessary confidence of the world before the next stage is undertaken. Specifically it is considered that the commission might well devote its attention first to the wide exchange of scientific and scientific information, and as a second stage to the development of full knowledge concerning natural resources of raw materials.

9. Faced with the terrible realities of the application of science to destruction, every nation will realize more urgently than before the overwhelming need to maintain the rule of law among nations and to banish the scourge of war from the earth.

"This can only be brought about by giving wholehearted support to the united nations organization, and by consolidating and extending its authority, thus creating conditions of mutual trust in which all peoples will be free to devote themselves to the arts of peace. It is our firm resolve to work without reservation to achieve these ends.

Harry S. Truman,
President of the United States.

C. R. Attlee,
Prime Minister of the United Kingdom.

W. L. Mackenzie King,
Prime Minister of Canada.

Officials Arrive To See 'Volcano'

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP)—Arrival of a British Columbia government official to investigate reports of a volcanic eruption near the tiny hamlet of Sheep Creek, about 35 miles north of here, was awaited today.

Varied reports have seeped from the little village nestled in the Rocky Mountain trench of the East Kootenay country. First reports of an active volcano were given last Tuesday by Ted Baker, who said lava had been seen flowing down a mountainside and that cattle had refused to drink from Sheep Creek because of the presence of volcanic ash in the water.

Later Mrs. J. M. Smith of nearby Fort Steele, and James White, trappers in the rugged inaccessible district, were reported to have been overtaken by a mass of sulphurous-smelling mud after they had witnessed an eruption, like the top of a mountain falling off.

Mrs. Smith sank up to her waist in the heavy flow of mud and one of their horses also became mired and had to be pulled out by its male.

Other residents of the hamlet reported a rumbling sound like thunder and a red glow appearing over the mountains.

It was following the initial report that Dr. J. F. Walker, Deputy Minister of Mines in British Columbia, instructed H. C. Hughes, Provincial Inspector of Mines with headquarters at Nelson, to leave immediately for the scene to investigate.

No Bill for Meter Reading Starting Today

B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. meter readers continued on their rounds today but no bills will be sent to Victoria consumers for meter readings between today and Dec. 14.

The readings between now and Dec. 14 will bring to an end the free light period for Victorians. Provision for the non-billing period was made by provincial order-in-council approving the recommendations of the Public Utilities Commission ordering non-billing to take care of the extraordinary wartime profits of the company.

The saving to power consumers, both domestic and industrial in Victoria and on southern Vancouver Island, will be $144,852, Premier John Hart has estimated. The saving in this area through the rate cut has been $112,805.

Also benefiting through the non-billing order are consumers at Alberni, in the Newcastle-Nanaimo area, at Vancouver and the lower mainland area, as well as Kamloops.

Pressmen Join Strike in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Officials of the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.) announced today that 27 pressmen of the Winnipeg Free Press and the Winnipeg Tribune had left work at noon, joining 120 composing room employees and approximately 13 stereotypers over a new contract in dispute between the publishers of the two papers and the union.

Spokesmen for the publishers declined to comment on the latest developments in the controversy, but said they were preparing to go ahead with plans for publishing the combined edition of the two papers today.

Meanwhile Justice W. J. Major, mediator, appointed by the Dominion, said he would forward his report on negotiations in the composing room employees' dispute with publishers of the two papers which has been deadlocked since Monday. The 120 printers are members of the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.) Local 191.

Edmonton Woman, Soldier Stabbed

EDMONTON (CP)—A charge of attempted murder was laid against George Thompson, no fixed address, following the knife wound of a Canadian soldier and a woman, in an Edmonton east restaurant Wednesday night.

Mrs. Beatrice Lund of Edmonton, about 30, suffered a six-inch gash extending from her left cheek to within a fraction of an inch of her jugular vein. The soldier, Frederick Edgar Whitford of Edmonton, suffered a five-inch knife gash in the throat. Both were removed to a hospital.

Police said "both missed fatal injuries by a fraction of an inch" in the fracas.

Whitford intervened, police said, when Thompson slashed the woman twice. Following his arrest, police said Thompson admitted using the knife and stated: "I take too much of a beating all day down there—this is the only way I can defend myself."

Danger signals fly high over shattered Germany as winter closes in with stark hunger and other privations which hold their threat of revolt.

This crisis finds Allied administration falling short of full efficiency, due largely to France's inability to agree with numerous measures until assured her allies will support her proposal for international control of the Ruhr and French occupation of the Rhineland. This divergence is now under discussion between the United States and France in Washington.

A trained observer now in Germany writes of the all-important relationship between conquerors and conquered, and here's what he says in part:

"It is a strange feeling to move unharmed among the would-be conquerors of the world. A few months ago they would have attacked you as an enemy. Now some look away, some are curious, many have a cold, impersonal look in their eyes — partly preoccupation with the pressing cares of food and fuel for winter.

"From many of the young element you get a hard look behind which seems to lurk a steely hatred, as though you have robbed them of their future. These fellows feel we have knocked the bottom out of their lives and taken away the inspiration of a great 'cause' to live for without replacing it with a comparable challenge. To be toppled from would-be conquerors of the world to unemployed citizens of a ruined carved-up country is a big jolt for them.

"The youth group are naturally the most indoctrinated with Nazi ideas. Trouble is expected from them this winter.

"In some cases attacks on United States personnel have occurred, focusing around 'fraternization.' Returned prisoners of war in their Wehrmacht clothes tend to hang around with young civilians at street corners. Anti-American feeling is being subtly fostered.

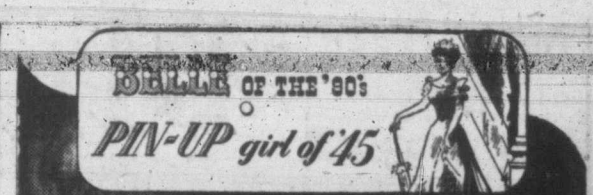

"Nearly half the young men and three quarters of the young women think the best thing for Germany would be a 'strong new Fuehrer.' In this way they revive hope in their hearts for Germany's bleak future. The more critical conditions get, the more likely they are to turn to new totalitarian solutions."

Tenth of China's Railways Destroyed

CHUNGKING (AP)—Chinese Communists have destroyed one-tenth of all China's railways—approximately 875 miles of track—causing "widespread dislocation" of the country's transportation network. Cabinet Spokesman P. H. Chang asserted here Wednesday.

He said, however, that trains still were running on the Peiping-Mukden railroad between Peiping and the North-China seaport of Chingwangtao, coal-loading point guarded by U.S. marines.

Tatung-Puchow and Peiping-Sulyuan railroads, linking China with Inner Mongolia, are "almost entirely inoperative," he reported. So is the Canton-Hankow line in South China between Kungong in Kwangtung province and Lelyang in Hunan province, he added. Breaks also were acknowledged on the Lunghai railroad in north-central China near Chengchow and Tungkwan.

Allies Postpone Trial of Krupp; Keep Him On List

NUERNBERG (AP)—The international military tribunal today granted a defence motion for a postponement of the war crimes trial of "dying" Gustav Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach until "his physical and mental condition permits it."

The court of Britain, the United States, Russia and France ordered charges in the Krupp indictment retained in the docket on the possibility the 75-year-old armaments maker might recover sufficiently to come to court.

The tribunal quoted findings of its inter-allied medical commission that Krupp was "seriously suffering from 'senile softening of the brain.'"

House Debate Indicates National Flag Will Include Union Jack

OTTAWA (CP)—Any flag chosen as Canada's distinctive national emblem in all likelihood will include the Union Jack in a prominent position despite the opposition of a small number of members of the Commons.

Such was the consensus after conclusion of discussions Wednesday on a resolution authorizing a distinctive national flag and the creation of a committee to choose a design for the flag.

Opposition to inclusion of the Union Jack in the design to be chosen came from a few Quebec members, some of them French-speaking, but they explained their opposition was not based on any disrespect for the Union Jack or any bitterness against the British people.

Sole recorded opposition to recognition of other flag than the Union Jack as Canada's flag came from T. L. Church, P.C., Toronto-Broadview, and Norman Jacques, S.C., Wetaskiwin, Alta.

They were the dissenters when the Commons voted 187 to 2 in favor of setting up the committee which will be composed of members of the Commons and the Senate. The division was called by Veterans' Minister MacKenzie, acting House leader.

Earlier members had answered the division bells twice as the opposition members pursued their efforts to have tabled documents which the government considers privileged. The government was upheld 111-82 and 105-55.

The C.C.F. called for the first vote when Labor Minister Mitchell declined to produce copies of correspondence between the deputy minister or other officials of the labor department and the department's advisory boards which deal with the question of suitable employment.

The Progressive Conservatives called for the second division when Health Minister Claxton declined to table for Donald Fleming, P.C., Toronto-Eglinton, copies of the minutes and proceedings of the supervising committee of the Canadian Information Service, set up to replace the Wartime Information Board.

The Senate met during the day and in that chamber royal assent was given to an interim supply bill of $29,769,000.

Relax Restrictions

OTTAWA (CP)—The Prices Board threw a lot more of those war styles and clothing restrictions out the window Wednesday.

In a message with good news for style-hungry women, it announced revoking of all restrictions on manufacture of women's misses' and juniors' woolen coats, suits and sport jackets. The one qualification was that no manufacturer could offer more than 50 styles of such garments in any fall or spring season.

Perhaps even more important news for the ladies was the announcement of the revision of restrictions governing manufacture, sale and delivery of other types of women's misses' and children's wear.

The revision provides that controls on the back and sleeve styles and on belts, sashes, collars, cuffs and such will be relaxed or removed entirely.

Reduce Point System

OTTAWA (CP)—Another 10-point reduction to an even 100 points was announced Wednesday night by Defence headquarters in the minimum point score necessary for priority discharge from the Canadian army. It was the second 10-point reduction since Nov. 1.

At the same time headquarters announced the industrial point spread, applicable to personnel seeking discharge in order to return to former employment, has been reduced from 20 to 15 points.

25,000 in Bronx Pray, But Witness No Miracle

NEW YORK (AP)—As elevated trains rattled overhead and photographers' bulbs flashed, 25,000 persons stood praying in the mud of a vacant lot in the Bronx Wednesday night, waiting for a miracle.

Guarded by 100 police, they told their rosaries in the rain, watching a nine-year-old boy, Joseph Vitolo Jr., pray at the improvised rock altar on the crest of a bluff.

It was the 16th night the boy claimed to have seen a vision of the Virgin Mary. And on the 16th night, he said, she was to show him a miracle, perhaps the appearance of a miraculous spring.

The crowd saw no miracle, but several invalids claimed their condition had suddenly improved.

Back at home Joseph was emotional and shouted for everyone to go away.

"They took pictures," he cried. "They said they wouldn't take any pictures."

Yes, he said he had seen the Blessed Virgin again.

"She had lots of stars around her head, and she was dressed all in blue," he added.

Bachelors A'Plenty In Canada's North

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada's northland provides an abundant field for husband-hunting women as long as they don't mind the cold. Bachelors are numerous with eligible males including Mounties, trappers, radio men and even missionaries, says Rt. Rev. Henry Martin, Bishop of Saskatchewan, who recently returned from the Arctic.

He doesn't seriously recommend housekeeping in the Arctic. "It's no life for a woman," he said. "Still, if you have a can opener you'd get along fine."

U.S., France Discuss Proposals To Administer Ruhr, Rhineland

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and France have begun talks here on the most critical issue now blocking effective Allied administration of Germany: France's proposal for non-German control of the Ruhr and Rhineland.

This became known today amid strong indications that President Truman and State Secretary Byrnes are about ready to undertake a sweeping review of United States administration in Germany.

Their objective will be to try to work out some means of preventing explosive conditions in the Reich from getting worse as winter sets in.

The effective administration of Germany has been hamstrung by French refusal to agree on most measures for inter-zone activities until they are assured of Allied support for their plan to put the industrially rich Ruhr under an international control and the equally important Rhineland under long-time French occupation.

Ambassador Rene Couve de Murville opened negotiations with State Department representatives this week and made France's first concrete proposal for stripping the Ruhr and Rhineland from Germany.

The French are conducting simultaneous talks in London and Moscow.

Other questions up for discussion with Mr. Truman are:

1. Food—The German people now are getting about 1,500 calories a day although experts in Germany recently sent word here that a minimum of 2,000 calories is needed. The situation is linked to the failure of the Allied control Council at Berlin to create a central economic agency which could co-operate between Germany and the outside world and also among the separate occupation zones.
2. What to do about destroying German industry—The Potsdam decision calls for destroying or removing as reparations all German war-making industries. Some plants fall clearly in this category, some clearly are in the category of peaceful manufacturers, but in between is the great bulk of German industries, particularly in the British and U.S. zones and the question is how to decide the potentialities of a plant.

Enough for All If Distribution Adequate—Truman

NEW YORK (AP)—President Truman says that for the first time in history "it is technically possible to produce enough material goods so that all men everywhere may be adequately fed, decently housed and comfortably clothed."

The President, in a letter transmitted to the concluding session of the 32nd National Foreign Trade convention Wednesday night, added:

"The question is whether our arrangements for exchange and distribution will be such that these enormous productive powers are enabled to operate freely for the benefit of everyone."

The 2,000 international traders and bankers also heard Dr. Herbert V. Svaft, Australia's foreign minister, declare his country wants the United States to take the lead in the postwar world, but that "Australia's willingness to follow your leadership in any new international program must be measured by our confidence in your ability to remain prosperous."

Spruille Braden, assistant U.S. Secretary of State, who recently was attacked verbally as U.S. ambassador to Argentina, asserted in obvious reference to that country that there was only one "notorious exception" to economic co-operation in the Americas. He added extemporaneously that "in that one notorious exception I want to make it plain that we hear the cry of anguish from that noble land and will answer it by every appropriate means at our disposal."

The convention as a whole adopted a declaration for creating "most-favored-nation" agreements between the United States and as many other countries as possible.

President Truman professed not to know all the answers as to how best to make the world's enormous productive capacity operate to the best advantage for everyone, but he said that a relaxation of government controls and the elimination of private monopoly would help.

T.B. Deaths Lowest

TORONTO (CP)—The five-year deadlock in tuberculosis mortality in Canada has been broken. E. L. Rudy, president of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, said at the association's annual meeting here Wednesday. During 1944 the death rate in Canada from tuberculosis dropped to 48 per 100,000, the lowest on record, he reported. In 1939 it was 52.8 per 100,000 and in 1943 it was 52.3.

Smaller Diplomas

VANCOUVER (CP)—The senate of the University of British Columbia has asked U.B.C. students for their opinions on a new "pocket-size" diploma to replace the present scroll, which measures almost 1½ feet by two feet.

The new diploma, to be 8 x 10 inches, would be contained in a blue and gold satin folder.

20-Year Sentence

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Jack Hand, 23, of Port Alberni, was sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary when he pleaded guilty to a charge of carnal knowledge of a juvenile before Magistrate Patterson in police court here Wednesday. The case involved a six-year-old girl.

Shaw Supporter Ejected

LONDON (Reuter)—British parliamentarians were startled Wednesday when a woman in the Commons lobby shouted, "Mr. Bernard Shaw is God's right hand man." The Irish playwright's admirer was ejected by police.

Snowmobiles Tested By R.C.M.P. in North

OTTAWA (CP)—To a degree—but only to a degree—the gasoline engine is threatening the dominion of the sled dog in the Canadian north, the chief of Canada's Mounties said in an interview today.

Motor-driven toboggans and snowmobiles, still scant in numbers, have been under experiment by the R.C.M.P. in the snows of the north. And, said Commissioner S. T. Wood, it is the conclusion that these innovations are advisable in the outposts "fairly close to civilization" where they can be repaired and fueled.

Otherwise, in the trackless wastes of the Far North, the dog still is essential, still most reliable, even with the difficulties of keeping him fed.

Gradually re-absorbing the men who left their ranks to join the armed services—some 200 went into the army, another 200 into the navy's marine section—the Mounties are not immune to the problems posed by men who come home weighed down with military rank.

Of the all-Mountie No. 1 Provost Company which went overseas with the 1st Division in 1939, about 50 per cent later were commissioned. The highest rank of 1939, a corporal, was a colonel when the fighting ended, and there were several lieutenant-colonels.

"We are trying in every way possible," said the commissioner, "to make up for their years in the services, in the way of promotion as well as in others."

"What about that full colonel?" "Well," grinned the commissioner, "he hasn't come back yet."

"What about the future?" he was asked.

"During the war there has been a shift in the weight of our job from the west to the eastern industrial areas," he answered. "Black markets, frauds such as fake sugar coupons, thefts of government stores kept us busy there. Crime actually decreased during the war, but as long as government controls continue on

A STRAIGHTFORWARD DECISION

ALTHOUGH MR. TRUMAN, MR. ATTLEE and Mr. Mackenzie King realize that "no system of safeguards can be devised which will provide an effective guarantee against the production of atomic weapons by a nation bent on aggression," and that "the only complete protection for the civilized world from the destructive use of scientific knowledge lies in the prevention of war," all peace-loving nations will learn with a good deal of satisfaction that these three chiefs of state advocate the creation of a United Nations Commission to control the threat of atomic destruction. This proposal for tackling a problem with such vast and unpredictable potentialities, however, is accompanied by a declaration that the manufacturing knowledge—shared by Canada, Great Britain and the United States—will not be divulged until "it is possible to devise effective reciprocal and enforceable safeguards acceptable to all nations."

In its main essentials, therefore, the formula produced by the President and the two Prime Ministers is confined to four points. These include facilities for the extension between all nations of basic scientific information (on all subjects) for peaceful ends, for the control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to ensure its use only for peaceful purposes, for the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons and of all other major weapons adaptable to mass production, and for effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and invasions. The official communique, however, distinguishes between what may be termed "fundamental scientific information" about atomic developments and the "specialized information" regarding the practical application of atomic energy. The statement further intimates that the scientific information "has already been made available to the world," and that it is the intention of the three leaders that all such knowledge as may become available from time to time "shall be similarly treated."

In the absence of further explanatory comments, and until certain national reactions have made their appearance, an expectant world, at least, will feel much easier in its mind as it digests the decision reached at this memorable Washington conference. And since the proposal comes from the nations which alone possess the manufacturing secrets of the atomic bomb, it should go far to remove suspicions which have manifested themselves in one or two Allied capitals. At any rate, the tone and contents of the straightforward statement, representing as they do the attitude of the three great English-speaking nations, should be accorded a welcome everywhere. Good faith should beget good faith. And what applies to international political leaders and their respective peoples, of course, will have to apply to the world's scientific leaders; for the men in the laboratories are not concerned with national frontiers or territorial aggrandizement.

Nothing included in today's decision need stoke the fires of skepticism. The doubting Thomases who hailed the emergence of the atomic bomb as the destroyer of the hopes and aspirations set forth in the Charter of the United Nations will find little comfort in the forthright proposal to which Mr. Truman, Mr. Attlee and Mr. Mackenzie King have now set their hands and seals. On the contrary, the promise of their joint undertaking lies in the prospect of further solidification of mutual interests which bound the great powers together in their long fight against the forces of tyranny and darkness. It should likewise stimulate the desire for greater and more practical contributions from all the peoples of the world to the basic principles on which the peace must rest if it is to be enduring.

WANTED—A BRIDGE

THE APPROACH TO CHINESE UNIFICATION by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, as head of the Central government at Chungking, and Mao Tse-tung, as head of the "Communist" government at Yen-an, is blocked by a seemingly impassable gulf which neither of the two leaders can bridge because, distrusting each other, they both fear that whoever builds the bridge will pour troops across and force the other to submit. For the present, both governments are dictatorships, but both are supported by a measurable form of elected assembly. Behind Chungking there stands the Kuomintang; behind Yen-an is the "New Democratic" assembly. Both Chungking and Yen-an naturally rush forward to take control, wherever possible, of the vacuum created by surrendering Japanese. Such areas are vital possessions in the struggle for unification.

Chungking can be accepted as the senior government recognized throughout the war by the Allies, and Russia has confirmed such recognition on her own behalf. Chungking, therefore, feels that Yen-an must show good faith by submitting to the Central government and Kuomintang party. Chungking promises that after such laying down of arms by Yen-an, there shall be free elections under the existing franchise. Yen-an demands a government, in which the Communists would share power with the Nationalists in such manner as will be determined by free elections, under universal suffrage, in both parts of China. It must be noted that under these circumstances Yen-an demands recognition of the government of Mao Tse-tung as an equal; also, that Chungking recognizes that unless the free elections are held under conditions imposed by the Kuomintang, the Yen-an government might obtain a majority and then use that majority as the means of establishing a single party dictatorship—which would mean placing the Communists in power.

The tense situation in China, of course, is aggravated by the delicate situation in Japan. Without attributing any ulterior motives to any of the parties concerned it is obviously extraordinarily difficult to build a bridge across the gulf separating Chungking from Yen-an. The Japanese bases provide the Yen-an armies with the strategic positions they require for further organization of all those forces which are opposed to the Kuomintang and favor the new democracy they believe to be emerging from the Yen-an dictatorship. These forces are politically supporting the general policies of the Yen-an government, but apparently do not believe they can be carried out without a definite change of policy on the part of the Kuomintang—which they regard as a tool in the hands of Chungking.

A NEW SCHOOL

WHETHER OR NOT EXISTING SUPPLY scarcities preclude an early start on major construction for a short time or for a protracted period, Victoria's school board has no inclination to delay its work in preparation for an expanded building program. The trustees served notice of their determination to do their part this week as they secured approval from the City Council to proceed with arrangements for a new junior high school in the northern end of the city. Without delay they will assemble their data to permit submission of a money-by-law to property owners. Given approval by the ratepayers, they will be able to initiate their important postwar undertaking as soon as materials become available.

The dispatch with which they have acted should draw not only commendation from the citizens, but an expression of appreciation in concrete form through support of the by-law. There is no question over the need for the new building. It will relieve overcrowding which has worked to the detriment of the school system for several years and will mark the beginning of a program calculated to meet the requirements of an integrated system when the Greater Victoria school administration becomes an accomplished fact.

Nor should the financial end of the transaction cause any undue alarm. At present Victoria is levying taxes to pay off school debt to the extent of $1,396.50 only each year. That will continue until 1951. With that record there can be little objection to the introduction of a new levy to finance the modernization and extension of a school plant which no longer meets the city's needs. It is pertinent to note that no new school has been built in Victoria since 1914 and that the degree of obsolescence in many of the buildings is a serious handicap to realization of the high standards of education on which the city prides itself.

The extent to which Victoria will be assisted by the provincial government following implementation of the recommendations of the Cameron report already has been indicated by Mr. Hart. That should furnish an additional incentive for new construction here. Apart from the educational factor involved, however, the proposed new school will provide employment in one of the industries which extends its benefits to many subsidiaries. Here is one example of progressiveness for which Victoria has waited many years.

HEALTHY DISAGREEMENTS

THAT PART OF PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE's speech to the United States Congress which suggested that there is "unity in diversity," and that "it would be a dull world if we were all alike," caught the attention of Mr. DeWitt Mackenzie, the A.P.'s able foreign affairs analyst, who said in his dispatch to this newspaper yesterday:

"A nation does not have to accept or even endorse the political 'ism' of another country in order to be friendly."

Whether Mr. Attlee or Mr. Mackenzie realized it or not, the point emphasized is in complete harmony with the broad principle laid down by the delegates to the Imperial Conference in London in June, 1937. These agreed that:

"The members of the Conference, while themselves firmly attached to the principles of democracy and to Parliamentary forms of government, decided to register their views that differences of political creed should be no obstacle to friendly relations between governments and countries, and that nothing would be more damaging to the hopes of international amity than the division, real or apparent, of the world into opposing groups."

While sinister shadows of coming events were visible to all who tried to look beyond their noses in the early summer of 1937, it was not generally supposed that the author of one particular "ism" would soon be trying to impose it on all the nations that stood in his path. What has happened in the meantime, however, adds new point to the thesis Mr. Mackenzie develops from Mr. Attlee's speech.

Middle age is that period when you feel rotten if you do anything unusual, and feel rotten if you don't.

THE LABOR BARGAINING POSITION

THE DOMINATING fact in the immediate situation is, it seems to me, that employees and employers realize that with the end of the war their bargaining position will be much changed. This is the reason why collective bargaining is not producing industrial peace: the disputes are not primarily about the terms of the bargain but about relative bargaining power now and in the near future.

For during the war bargaining positions of labor and capital have been abnormal. On the one hand the draft and industries working under war contracts created a demand for labor which was greater than the supply. On the other hand, in the war industries the government was the real employer, and private corporations were its hired agents; the government, being sovereign, had the power to create money to pay whatever it was necessary to pay to get the work done. As a result, workers who were not subject to the draft or frozen in conspicuous jobs, went into collective or individual bargaining with the assurance that the employer had little incentive to bargain, or little power if he wished to bargain.

THE TEMPER of Congress today reflects the resentment in the towns and villages, over the altogether abnormal bargaining power of working men and women during the past few years. They feel it to be a change in the foundation of the social order to which they are accustomed, and indeed—if it were permanent—it would be. Many of them have ascribed the change—under which they are unable to bargain with labor as they once did—to the New Deal, to Communism. But in fact it is due to the law of supply and demand, operating under wartime conditions.

The resistance of Congress to separation pay for war workers has been due, quite clearly, to the feeling that this was a government subsidy to propping the exceptional bargaining power of labor.

HERE, TOO, undoubtedly, is the main spring of the opposition to the full employment bill: a coalition of Southerners and of Northerners from districts where industrial labor is not strong are in no mood to provide full employment after several years' experience of what has been not only full employment, but in fact over-full employment. They see in "full employment" a government guaranty that employers—which means not so much the giant corporations but little business men, Main Street merchants, farmers, housewives seeking to employ a maid or a handyman—will have no bargaining power in regard to wages, hours, or the quality of the work done for wages.

The underlying fact is—to put it bluntly—that in reaction against the consequences of excess employment there is a patent desire in the great middle mass of the people for enough unemployment to re-establish their lost bargaining position and to restore industrial discipline. This reaction is particularly strong, of course, wherever the war has changed the relative bargaining power of Negro and other racial minorities.

THE DIFFICULTY with collective bargaining at this time is that all parties to it are aware that their relative bargaining power is due to change. This, more than anything else, accounts for the strikes, often by the rank and file against the advice of their leaders: they are attempts to use war-time bargaining power in order to achieve gains or avoid losses before that war-time bargaining power declines. This accounts also, of course, for the attitude of employers—which is in substance that they must not and need not make bad bargains now since they will be able to make better bargains later on. For a little later on, there will be more men than there are jobs, and there will also be no more price ceilings.

Thus labor is in much more of a hurry than is capital to make settlements governing the postwar conditions of employment.

THAT BEING the case, important and useful as it is to improve the machinery of collective bargaining, it is necessary that the underlying bargaining position—which is the real problem—be openly examined and understood. For while understanding will not in itself solve the problem or remove it, it will assuage it. It will enable the people who are most disinterested, who are not suffering from class blindness and are not ridden by their resentments, to maintain a decent public temper during the change, which is inevitable and disturbing, after the abnormality of war.

We must recognize, it seems to me, that we must pass through a troubled period while the bargaining position changes until we reach a new equilibrium. Our problem is to find an equilibrium at which there is neither the excessive employment of war-time nor mass unemployment.

THIS, IF IT WERE properly presented by its supporters and correctly understood, is the real purpose of the full employment bill. It is not easy to find that middle ground of equilibrium. But there can be little doubt that we have an infinitely better chance of finding it, if, using the facilities of the bill, we learn to estimate, and by checking them with events gradually, to prove our estimates of whether there is likely to be an inflated and excessive or a deflated and deficient demand for goods and for labor.

In most homes, a baby grand piano is like books. Nobody uses it, but such furniture impresses the neighbors.

Battles in Miniature

A TEAM OF British naval experts

fighting a war of their own. specially built water tanks using scale models of British warships, miniature torpedoes, mines and bombs—high-speed precision cameras film the whole action. The team consists of highly skilled constructors, engineers, mathematicians, physicists and metallurgists of the Admiralty Naval Construction Department who are responsible for the design of the Royal Navy's warships.

Their job is designing and producing the "perfect" warship according to present-day standards irrespective of whether it be a battleship or an aircraft carrier. These tests are carried out to enable them to compile statistics and data of performance as well as reaction to underwater explosion under action conditions. In addition to carrying out laboratory experiments, men of the Royal Corps of Naval Constructors go to sea with the navy to gain first-hand experience so that the best possible workmanship and materials shall go into the design and construction of all ships both building and refitting.

All these tests and experiments are carried out before the plans of any new class of ship are handed over to the shipbuilder and the keel laid down. Ships undergoing major refits are also modified to conform with the latest information of ship construction and performance.

Committee to Draw Up Transport System Specifications for Bids

Following approval of the suggested routes for the Greater Victoria unified transportation system, the councils of the four municipalities will be asked to confirm the appointment of their engineers and solicitors to act as a special committee to draw up specifications to serve as a basis for calling of tenders for the system, it was decided at the meeting of the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee Wednesday afternoon.

Councillor J. A. Ellis of Esquimalt submitted one small change

In the routing, which would call for transportation to be provided along Head Street from Esquimalt Road to Old Esquimalt Road, but this was still subject to approval from the Esquimalt Council, he said.

Ald. T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the committee, stressed that it would be essential in any tender approved that it be flexible and the municipalities retain the power to change or extend the routes as it was found necessary. 10, 15 OR 20-YEAR FRANCHISE

Included in the specifications was to be a request for alternate bids on a 10, 15 or 20-year franchise period, it being pointed out by A. J. Patton, city solicitor, that the municipalities were prohibited under the Municipal Act from entering into any agreement for longer than a 21-year period.

UNIVERSAL TRANSFER The committee also included in its recommendations that there be universal transfer privileges, 3 per cent of the gross earnings of the company to be paid to the municipalities, power to change or extend routes as desired or needed. The establishment of services and fares included in the specifications was to be left to the judgment of the special committee.

Mr. Patton pointed out that the procedure which would have to be followed once the tenders had been called and one agreed upon by the four municipalities, would include first the passage of by-laws. These would then be submitted to the Public Utilities Commission for approval, next to the electorate, and, finally, to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

Saanich representatives submitted a copy of a resolution passed by their council, asking that the company receiving the franchise for the Greater Victoria unified system be asked to provide interurban service to the outlying areas of Saanich, and that no agreement be made that would interfere with the present franchise held in that municipality by the Vancouver-Island Coach Lines.

Attending the meeting were: Ald. Hawkins, chairman; Ald. W. H. Davies, Ald. J. A. Worthington, A. J. Patton, city solicitor, and John Baxter, secretary, for the city; Reeve E. C. Warren and John Tribe, municipal clerk, for Saanich; Councillor J. A. Ellis for Esquimalt, Councillor Walter Walker, Councillor R. A. B. Wootten, and A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, for Oak Bay.

Willows Improvements Sought By Oak Bay

Following the report and recommendation of Deputy Fire Marshal W. A. Oswald on unfavorable conditions at Willows Park, Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening decided to send on the report to the City of Victoria with a request for remedy of the situation.

Fire Marshal W. A. Walker, in an attached report, said, "it appears there is a good deal to be done to bring these buildings to a safe standard, and they should not be allowed to open until they are made safe."

The deputy fire marshal, in a lengthy report, laid out his recommendations for improvements to existing facilities in 12 Willows Park buildings, and added the recommendation that equipment for stopping incipient fires should be completely checked and brought up to a safe standard.

A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, was empowered to act and purchase in the matter of improved street lighting. Mr. Musgrave's recommendations regarding street lighting included the proposal that 120 of the 1,000 lumin lights at present in use in Oak Bay be increased to 2,500 lumens.

At present, Mr. Musgrave said, Oak Bay was using 70 per cent of its transformer capacity and the increase would mean the municipality was using 95 per cent of its full capacity.

The council approved erection of a greenhouse at 3385 Upper Terrace Road at the proposed cost of $175. Also approved was inclusion of a light on Hampshire Terrace in the 1946 estimate.

Harvest Supper

The sum of $50 was cleared by the Ganges W.A. to St. George's Church, at a harvest supper held in the Log Cabin. Mrs. P. Beech and Mrs. L. Taylor were general conveners, assisted by Mesdames W. Norton, F. Stacey, F. Carter, W. Palmer, G. Parsons, F. Sharpe, J. Byron, E. Adams and J. Barnister. Community singing was enjoyed with solos by Mrs. F. Baker and Archdeacon G. H. Holmes, accompanied by Mrs. W. Hastings. A musical quiz was held, winners being Mesdames S. W. Baker, J. D. Reid, J. Dodds, Miss S. Malcheski, Mr. Steven King and Mr. William Palmer.

Saanich Defence Workers Thanked

The Saanich civil defence organization was officially disbanded when certificates of service for 3,000 civil defence workers in the municipality were presented Wednesday night to divisional and senior district wardens in Lake Hill Community Hall. W. C. Mainwaring made the presentation.

The individual workers will receive their certificates from senior wardens at meetings in their own districts.

Thanking workers for their hard work, Mr. Mainwaring expressed hope that the work of more than 64,000 trained civil defence personnel in the province would not cease. Auxiliary fire-crews alone had saved property worth $2,500,000, he said, which was more than the total amount spent on civil defence in the province.

Reeve E. C. Warren, Saanich chairman; Capt. E. D. W. Leven, Saanich controller, and Inspector S. F. M. Moodie, assistant to Mr. Mainwaring, also expressed gratitude to the workers for their untiring efforts. Reeve Warren announced that Saanich would accept applications from civil defence police for service as special police in the municipality, some already having indicated their desire to continue the work.

Victoria School Board, loser to the tune of nearly $1,000 this year to date, through broken school windows, served notice at the board of trustees meeting Wednesday night that it would prosecute to the fullest extent of the law, any persons caught in acts of vandalism.

All requests from veterans to finish their education in secondary schools under the Department of Veterans' Affairs will be met, provided Victoria High School can accommodate them, the board agreed. Delegates named to the British Columbia School Trustees' Association convention were Trustee I. Curtis, chairman, and Trustees Miss I. Tuck, W. A. Bayliss and C. M. Parrott.

Women Must Work Together To Achieve Real Freedom

"The greatest of all freedoms a woman should have — and the one she has not — is the freedom of choice," said Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A.-elect, at the Women's Round Table, held in the council chamber at the City Hall, Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Hodges spoke of the four great freedoms which had influenced thought during the war years, and suggested to her audience that women were not as free as one would like when thinking even in terms of these four freedoms.

"Freedom from want," she said, "means freedom to work and to earn. Freedom to receive equal pay for equal work. A right woman should receive, not as a woman, but as a human being." "Women are at the crossroads," she warned, "and how is the time when it will be decided which road they will take. Back to the kitchen, or forward into a truly emancipated state, with full means of exercising an equal right with men to choose their social, economic and political destiny."

Dr. Henrietta Anderson, the second speaker, suggested that hereditary male objections to women in business, and the fact — which, again, was hereditary — that women will not co-operate one with the other, were two reasons for the position they find themselves in today.

"We have not been in the world long enough, it seems," she said, "to see the necessity and to produce an ethical code that will include all women."

"If we expect equality with men," she urged, "we must be ready for it. We must fit ourselves for it. We must be willing to lay aside all petty jealousies, and support all women in their ambitious plans, if they have the necessary qualities to make them work. If we have no ambition to hold office, then we must be willing to work as women in groups, to work with women and for women."

Laundry, Mrs. Mabel Hawthorn; novelties, Mrs. E. P. Creech and Mrs. L. A. Gordon; aprons and toys, Miss Audrey Dunn; superfluities, Mrs. G. Portingale; afternoon tea, Mrs. F. S. Martin and Mrs. F. about MERCOLIZED WAX CREAM

Because only MERCOLIZED WAX CREAM helps your skin in THESE four ways: 1—It actually makes your skin more lustrous, glowy, by making it more translucent, less waxy. This improves your natural coloring. 2—It peels invisibly dull, discolored outer-skin revealing your protected skin beneath, lovelier and drier fresh. 3—It smooths coarse, grainy skin, makes the texture silky to touch. 4—It will make and keep your skin firmer and younger-looking. This is the cream that gives you a romantic skin. So start with MERCOLIZED WAX CREAM today.

Startle your skin to fresh loveliness with SAKOLITE ASTRINGENT. Tightens sagging tissue, reduces lines around eyes, cleans away every trace of stale makeup. Try it. At cosmetic counters everywhere.

What's New Around the Home

Christmas Deadline—Thirty-three shopping days until Christmas! It's time to shop now, to get these packages in the mail so they may be delivered on time. Make this holiday season merrier all-around by doing your Christmas shopping early and easing the strain on manpower, transportation, and ourselves.

Arranging Flowers—The art of expert flower arrangement is amazingly simple and within the reach of all. Large masses of blooms are unnecessary; for most rooms, several smaller, skillful arrangements are distinctly preferred. First rule to learn is to plan your design. Begin by one of the similar types of flower composition; triangular, circular or radiating. For example, if your figured vase strikes a circular note, then repeat this theme by a flower arrangement that is circular, too.

Hip, Hip Array!—Hiplines make the headlines in both American and Paris winter collections. Gone is the silverslim silhouette. Here for an extended stay is the distended, billowing hipline. But there's no need for alarm. The new hipline is so skillfully worked in peplums, bustles, gathers and ruffles that it flatters the figure. The new fuller hipline makes daytime clothes the most exciting in many seasons.

Old Rubber Rings—Rubber jar rings which are of no more use for canning needs should not be thrown away. Sew one on each corner of the underside of small rugs to prevent them from slipping. For larger rugs, use more rubbers, including two or three in the centre.

For Tender Lamb Chops—Lamb chops come out unbelievably puffy and tender, cooked an old Louisiana way. Sear them without fat until brown on both sides with a few drops of onion juice. Then place each on a square of oiled paper with a few dots of butter, pepper and salt. Twist papers tightly around chops. Place in shallow oven-proof dish; bake in hot oven for 10 minutes. Then remove paper; serve chops in same dish.

Aid to Popularity—It's the girl with the sparkle in her eye and the lilt in her voice that commands the attention and admiration of any group. People just won't naturally gravitate toward you unless your personality captures their interest. A woman doesn't need to be a brilliant conversationalist, but she does need the ability to listen with lively interest to what the other person has to say. A discussion will flourish if it is nurtured with a friendly smile and a few well-aimed questions.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Dorothy Dix: Whenever my wife differs with me on any subject she says: "You are a liar." I resent this for I have lived a truthful life for half a century and am not accustomed to having such derogatory terms applied to me. When we are out in company and she howls this insult at me, I get downright embarrassed.

What shall I do to tone down this new wife of mine?

T. M.

Answer: If you have lived to be 50 years old before marrying and then have gotten a wife who not only is a shrew but is lacking in even common good manners, you are certainly to be pitied.

Being called a liar has always been a fighting word, so you will have to use strong-armed methods in dealing with a wife who calls you one. The longer you let her insult you, the bolder she will get, so you will have to roll up your sleeves and spit on your hands and give her a few knock-out blows that will make her afraid to hold you up to ridicule publicly.

And, inasmuch as your battle has to be a verbal one, your best bet is to think up some epithets to call her that will make her seem almost like a pet word. A few scathing references to her personal appearance would be atomic bombs that would turn the trick.

St. Joseph's Nurse Returns From Europe

Wearing the E.T.O. ribbon and battle stars of Normandy, Northern France and Germany on her uniform, Lieut. Ruth E. McCaig of the United States Army Nursing Corps, arrived in Victoria Wednesday to visit her sister, Miss Esther McCaig, 1765 Lulie Street.

Lieut. McCaig, who is a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital, landed on the Normandy beaches three weeks after D-Day with the 50th General Hospital, carrying blanket roll and full pack.

From then until VE-Day, the nurses were so busy, Lieut. McCaig said, "We didn't have time to worry about the danger." Commended for services in Normandy, where they set up a tent hospital at Carentan with a capacity of 2,000 beds, Lieut. McCaig served later with an evacuation unit in the combat area in Luxembourg. Nursing in a hospital near Nancy in eastern France from December, 1944, until August of this year, she sailed from Marseilles aboard the American transport, George Washington, Oct. 26, arriving in New York just one day before Navy Day.

Hoping to receive her discharge from the army next month, Lieut. McCaig plans to take a course as a medical secretary at the University of Hawaii.

The nursing sister will leave Victoria Friday to spend some time with her parents in Grand Forks.

Recommend C. Sims As Boulevard Foreman

The appointment of Charles Sims as foreman of boulevards will be recommended to city council by the parks committee, Ald. D. D. McTavish, chairman, announced following a meeting Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Sims has been an employee of the city parks department for 34 years.

An offer was made to the parks committee by W. J. Cull to lease Royal Athletic Park for a five-year period at an annual fee of $6,000, for the promotion of amateur sports. Mr. Cull said that he would be prepared to increase the seating accommodation, install lights for night sports and maintain the up-keep of the park.

The offer was tabled, Ald. McTavish said, in view of negotiations now proceeding with the Victoria Athletic and Baseball Co. Ltd., which is hoping to establish professional baseball at the park.

If the 29 signatories of the petition asking for the removal of boulevard trees on Richardson Street between Cook and Moss Streets form the majority of the property owners in the section, the parks committee will recommend that the trees be removed, Ald. McTavish said.

The committee will advise the council that in its opinion the city is not liable for damages on account of an injury sustained by W. A. Mason, a nine-year-old boy, on the slide at Central Park last summer.

Hon. H. G. T. Perry Honored By Cabinet

Hon. H. G. T. Perry, provincial education minister, chairman of the B.C. Rehabilitation Committee, and former Speaker of the B.C. Legislature, was honored Wednesday by Premier John Hart and members of the executive council, after he had handed in his resignation.

Appointment of Mr. Perry's successor is expected to be made by Premier Hart before he leaves next Wednesday for Ottawa to attend the meeting of the steering committee of the Dominion-Provincial Conference, scheduled to start Nov. 26.

The occasion took the form of a luncheon at the Union Club, and was attended by Mr. Speaker Norman Whittaker, K.C.; W. T. Straith, K.C., and Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Victoria members of the Legislature, as well as the Cabinet members.

Presented to Mr. Perry were a writing desk and set, an easy chair and a coffee table.

Mr. Perry shortly will return to Prince George, where he is publisher of the Prince George Citizen. He is also publisher of the daily newspaper, the Prince Rupert News.

At the luncheon speakers expressed the hope Mr. Perry, defeated at the polls last Oct. 25, would return to the Legislature and Cabinet at the next general election.

First elected to the B.C. Legislature in 1920, Mr. Perry was re-elected in 1924 and served as deputy Speaker and chairman of the Legislature's private bills committee. Defeated in 1928, he was re-elected in 1933, and again in 1937 and 1941. From 1933 to 1941 he was Speaker of the House.

Mr. Perry in 1935 represented British Columbia at the London Conference of the Empire Parliamentary Association.

Herring Pack Up 125,000 Cases

B.C.'s herring fishing industry, off to the best start in history, has produced 423,064 cases to last week-end, almost 125,000 more cases than to that date last year.

Weekly bulletin of the chief supervisor of fisheries today showed production to Nov. 10 had been 31,50 green tons in district No. 2 and 22,246.93 green tons in District No. 3 which included 16,137.76 green tons in the area off the lower east coast of Vancouver Island.

Most of the pack is going to the British Ministry of Foods and Unrua.

By-products of the industry include to date, according to the bulletin, 274.10 tons of herring meal, 41,579 gallons of herring oil, 771.70 tons of herring offal meal and 151,970 gallons of herring oil.

The salmon season, about wound up now, has produced 1,727,697 cases to date, exceeding production for 1944 and 1943, and almost equalling the 1,773,597 cases produced to Nov. 14, 1942.

Pilchard meal and oil production is falling far behind the production during the same period of 1944. To date this year output of the two main products, areas of Boothia and Barkley Sound has been 31,724 tons green, 5,450 tons meal, 1,136,770 gallons oil and 59,535 cases canned.

'Bartered Bride' Overture Will Open Symphony Concert

By M. A.

The keen interest that is felt by certain music-conscious and public-spirited citizens in the Victoria Symphony Orchestra has been demonstrated in a very worthwhile manner recently. Eight gift memberships have been made available to serious music students of the city high schools through the generosity of two symphony supporters.

The value of these gifts is twofold. There is first the cultural advantage to the young people. Secondly, for the future, the founding of a keener interest in an organization that has come to stay, and which, by staying, will heighten immeasurably the wealth and prestige of British Columbia's capital city. No city of any importance can afford to be without a symphony any more than it can without a public library or a theatre.

Those attending the concert of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra on Monday Nov. 19, will realize that conductor and instrumentalists are doing their share and have gone a long step toward the achieving of a first-class permanent orchestra for this city.

Under Melvin Knudsen, with Mrs. J. W. E. Hunt, the former Julia Kent Jones, as concert mistress, an exceptionally fine program will be given. It is safe to say that the opening overture, Smetana's "Bartered Bride" will astound and delight the hearers. Certainly, seldom are the outstanding characteristics of this masterpiece so thoroughly understood and so clearly delineated.

Madame Gertrude Hunt, outstanding Canadian pianist, will be featured as guest artist in the Greig A minor concerto.

Junior Chamber Here To Meet President
On Nov. 22 a special dinner meeting of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held in Empress Hotel in honor of the national president, Edward O'Connor, who is expected here, it was announced at a meeting of the junior chamber in Douglas Hotel Wednesday.

The announcement was made by the junior chamber's president, C. J. Harrington, recently returned from New York and Washington, D.C.

Reports were tendered by Lee Hallberg, chairman of the publicity committee for Navy Week, Nov. 18 to 25, and M. F. Hunter, chairman of the May 24 celebration committee, who announced plans were under way for that day.

Bigger Civilian Parcels Allowed

George H. Gardiner, Victoria postmaster, has received official confirmation from Ottawa of an order whereby British postal authorities will accept parcels weighing up to 11 pounds, for delivery to civilians in Great Britain.

"This will come as a great boon to persons here who have chafed at the five-pound limit, but there are restrictions which must be observed," Mr. Gardiner said. "The parcels must be gift parcels and the food included in the total weight of the food must not exceed seven pounds, and the parcel must not contain more than two pounds of any one foodstuff."

Parcels must be unsolicited and sent not more frequently than monthly. They must be clearly marked as gifts. Mr. Gardiner suggested that persons who have already sent five-pound parcels to Britain, wait until December before taking advantage of the new 11-pound limit.

The death occurred at the Royal Jubilee Hospital at 2.30 this morning of Fred N. Jones, a resident of Victoria for the past 60 years. He was 79 years of age.

Mr. Jones was born at Brierley Hill, Staffordshire, England. He sailed from Liverpool, Aug. 31, 1885, and arrived at New York Sept. 8, coming via Chicago to Tacoma and from Tacoma to Victoria on the steamer George E. Starr, arriving here Sept. 25, 1885. He spent two months with an uncle and aunt, the late Mr. and Mrs. Noah Shakespeare, then went to Nanaimo, where he was employed with the V.I. Coal Company.

A few months later he went to Vancouver and started in business for himself. He was burned out in the big fire of 1886 and came back to Victoria where he was offered a position as junior member of the engine room staff at the old drydock. From that time until his retirement in 1932, he was at the drydock, working up to become the chief engineer.

Mr. Jones was married at Esquimalt Aug. 13, 1890, to Aggie, second daughter of the late C. E. Bunting, customs house officer at Esquimalt, and Mrs. Bunting. They lived at Esquimalt and later in Victoria and made a host of friends. There were three children. The elder son, Fred and an only daughter, Maude, are both dead. Another son, Kenneth, lives in Seattle. There is one granddaughter, Mrs. John Thompson of Victoria. Also surviving are brothers, Harry V. and Ernest B., and two sisters, Miss Clara Jones, Mrs. J. A.

Scott and Mrs. G. R. Harris, all of Victoria.

VICTORIA sports fans will not see Joe Louis, world heavyweight boxing champion in action, owing to the lack of a suitable auditorium in which to stage a boxing show. Fred Richardson of the Tillicum Athletic Club stated today he had been given the opportunity to bring Louis here for an exhibition bout but after trying for several days to secure a hall in which to stage the affair had wired Louis' handlers that a local appearance of the world champion was "no dice."

LOUIS who is scheduled to appear in an exhibition bout at Vancouver early in December, was willing to make a local appearance, without any guarantee. "All I had to do was pay him 50 per cent of the gate, which would have been a cinch to put over in view of his tremendous drawing power," Richardson said. "I made every effort to secure both the Bay Street Armories and the Royal Victoria Theatre for the show, but the conditions were too tough so, with great reluctance, I was forced to call off further negotiations." From what I could learn Richardson is toying with the idea of attempting to have Louis make an appearance at Nanaimo. Just think of how simple it would have been to promote such a show here if the new arena had been built.

IVAN TEMPLE returned from the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association meeting at Nelson over the week-end feeling pretty good. It seems the interior towns are really interested over this city's minor hockey set-up. So much so that Temple has been asked to provide several of them with all the details of the scheme. "They just can't get over the fact that we have been able to make the youngsters pay out of their own pockets to play hockey and are quick to realize that is one big reason why the boys stay with it and don't drop out in the middle of the season as has been the case in a lot of other towns where minor hockey promoting has been attempted," Temple said.

IN A MATTER OF WEEKS the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association will announce whether or not Canada will enter a team in the 1946 Davis Cup competition, scheduled for revival next year for the first time since 1939. R. N. Watt, president of the association, has already expressed opinion that Canada should enter a challenge for "the inspiration that arises from Davis Cup competition" and says that he is more interested in the mere fact of having a team than who will play on it. The last Canadian team included two Vancouver members of the R.C.A.F.: Phil Pearson and Bill Pedlar; Ellis Tarshis of Montreal and Bruce Hall of Toronto. Pearson is still overseas; Pedlar was reported missing over the Bay of Bengal in May, 1944; Tarshis has not been active in tennis and little is known of Hall. Other name players include Laird Watt of Montreal still in service overseas; Bobby Murray of Montreal recently discharged from the army; Ross Wilson of St. Catharines and Don McDiarmid of Ottawa recently returned from overseas.

Sward's Kicking Gives Beaches Win In Grid Playoff

TORONTO (CP)—The long hours Sammy Sward devoted to kicking rehearsals seemed time well spent today as Toronto Balmy Beach nursed a frugal lead over Toronto Indians in an Ontario Rugby Football Union championship series.

For it was Sward's trained toe, more than anything else, which brought Beaches a 2 to 1 victory last night in the first game of a total-point series destined to end at Varsity Stadium Saturday. Sward kicked both Beach points, but for an estimated 6,000 fans in floodlit Maple Leaf Stadium the highlight was his ability to boom long spirals which generally rolled into touch before fleet Indian halves could gain possession.

Last night the top teams of the O.R.F.U., perpetuating their light rivalry which saw them split 289 points in two scheduled meetings, shared single points in the first quarter when a Sward hoist went for an automatic point after Tommy Ford of Beaches had been rouged two minutes earlier on Froggikj's punt.

After a scoreless second quarter, Bobby Porter tossed a forward pass to Bud Moorehouse who carried to the Indian 40. From there Sward kicked the winning point. Ross McKelvey being trapped behind the Indian line by six tacklers. The fourth quarter also was scoreless.

The winner of the O.R.F.U. title series will advance into the eastern Canadian final Nov. 24, against Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four.

Phil Cavarretta Most Valuable In National

NEW YORK (AP)—Phil Cavarretta, smooth-fielding, hard-hitting first baseman of the National League champion Chicago Cubs, today was named the most valuable player in the National League in 1945 by the Baseball Writers' Association.

Once again the title went to a player on the pennant-winning club, snapping a three-year reign of St. Louis Cardinal performers. Mort Cooper won the crown in 1942, Stan Musial in 1943 and Marty Marion in 1944.

Cavarretta, rated by many as the No. 1 hustler of baseball, earned the honors by capturing the batting championship in a stretch duel with Tommy Holmes of Boston and by leading both clubs at bat in the world series. In announcing the balloting by a committee of 24 baseball writers, Ken Smith, secretary of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, said the 29-year-old first sacker will receive the second annual Kenesaw Mountain Landis memorial plaque.

WIDE MARGIN
"Polling 15 first-place votes, seven seconds and one fifth, Cavarretta failed to score on only one ballot. He piled up a total of 279 points out of a possible 335, compared with Holmes' second-place score of 175.

It was Cavarretta and Holmes who duelled for the league batting crown most of the season. Although the Boston flycatcher set a new circuit mark by hitting safely in 37 consecutive games, the Cubs' first baseman caught him on a late spurt with an unofficial final .355 average. Despite the fact that a shoulder injury forced him to the sidelines during the Cubs' final eastern swing, Cavarretta played 132 games, and included 33 doubles, 10 triples and six homers in his 177 hits. His .423 mark in the world series earned him the distinction of matching Honus Wagner and Al Simmons as league batting champs who had doubled up by leading in the fall classic.

CAGE WORKOUT

Meeting of the K.V.'s Club will be held tomorrow night at 8 in the Liberal headquarters, Government Street. As important business will be discussed all members are requested to attend.

Uganda Hoopsters Win

Basketballers from H.M.C.S. Uganda came up with a victory in last night's feature game at the High School when they out-roughed Sprinkling Tailors 36 to 23 in the men's senior B division. Other fixtures saw the Alcos continue their victory string in the intermediate A section, beating Roller Bowl representatives 65 to 23 and St. Louis College win over Chinese Students 40 to 35 in the intermediate B boys' campaign.

Bluejackets and the tailors staged a game that was mighty interesting to the fans. The boys made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in ability. After gaining an 18 to 6 lead in the first half, the sailors found the competition a little tougher in the second 20 minutes' play.

HIGH SCORING
With Vince Clarkson and Ken King each racking up 17 points and Larry Booth accounting for 16 the smooth-working Alcos had

Frankie Brimsek To Rejoin Boston

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Bruins became bullish in the hockey market today when Manager Art Ross received a wire from Frankie Brimsek that the all-star goalie would arrive in Boston Monday. Often reported as on his way home, Brimsek finally has been discharged from the United States coast guard after 30 months' service, much of it in the Pacific.

Frank Dotten Draws Hockey Suspension

MIDLAND, Ont. (CP)—C. A. Dudley, secretary of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, announced Wednesday the association was notified by the National Hockey League of the suspension of three players and the lifting of a suspension on another. The players suspended are Eddie Dartnell, Bill Robinson and Frank Dotten. A previous suspension to Herman Gruhn was revoked by the N.H.L. Dudley said the players were automatically suspended by the C.A.H.A. through a working agreement with the N.H.L. Dotten is playing manager of the Seattle team in the Pacific Coast League.

Canadiens Turn On Toronto for 6-1 Win

TORONTO (CP)—Montreal Canadiens last night thoroughly shattered any dreams the Toronto Maple Leafs may have held of climbing out of the National Hockey League cellar at the expense of their traditional rivals. With a convincing display of power, the Montrealers overwhelmed the Stanley Cup champions 6 to 1 before 13,404 fans, moved into a first-place tie with the league standings and looked for a victory tonight over New York Rangers in Montreal as a possible stepping stone to sole possession of the top slot.

Coombs Scores Four Goals In Seattle Victory

SEATTLE, Wash. (CP)—Seattle Ironmen can thank left winger Shorty Coombs for breaking their seven-game losing streak and defeating Portland Eagles 5 to 4 in a Coast League hockey game here last night. Coombs went on a scoring rampage and netted Seattle's first four goals and collected an assist on the winner, which his fellow-lineman, playing manager Frank Dotten sank. The cellar-dwelling Ironmen started the game with grim determination to put an end to being on the short end of the score. Twice in the first period they had a one-goal lead but Portland evened the count at 2 to 2 before the period ended. However, the second session looked like another defeat for Seattle when Eagles broke through for two scores while blanking the Ironmen. Taking the ice for the final period with a 4 to 2 deficit facing them, Seattle tore in and made the official scorer earn his money. Coombs evened the count after 14 minutes of play and Dotten denied the twine for the winner, eight seconds later.

Portland goals were spread out with Bill Kyle, Joe Conn, Red Carr and Eddie Shamlock each scoring one.

SUMMARY
First period—1, Seattle, Coombs (Dotten) 4:19; 2, Portland, Kyle (Conn) 7:18; 3, Seattle, Coombs (Urskai) 15:10; 4, Portland, Conn (Kyle, Webster) 18:13.
Second period—5, Portland, Carr (Shamlock) 10:09; 6, Portland, Shamlock (Coleman) 12:15. Penalties: Webster, Warshawski and Tamminen.
Third period—7, Seattle, Coombs (Urskai, Bentley) 12:32; 8, Seattle, Coombs (Dotten) 14:08; 9, Seattle, Dotten (Coombs) 14:20. Penalties: Dalglish and Webster (major).

Toe Blake in Tie For Scoring Lead

Two goals by Toe Blake last night, as Montreal Canadiens defeated Toronto Maple Leafs, 6 to 1, lifted the Montreal left-winger into a first-place tie with Bill Cowley of Boston Bruins among National Hockey League scoring leaders. Blake now has nine goals and two assists for 11 points, his nine goals being the top figure in that column. Elmer Lach provided assists on both of Blake's goals and jumped into a fifth-place tie with Alex Kaleta of Chicago. His seven assists lead that department.

Leaders follow:
Goals: Blake 9, Cowley, Boston 7, Lach, Montreal 6, Mendenko, Chicago 4, Kaleta, Chicago 4, Bentley, Montreal 4, Richard, Montreal 4, Clint Smith, Chicago 4, Gillingham, Boston 2.

Immediate Attention

"For the last five or six years, concern with international questions, other than those directly related to the war effort, seemed to many people a kind of disloyalty. Now a host of problems demand our immediate attention and refuse any longer to be ignored. We realize that all the clear thinking in the world must be mobilized if we are to decide wisely in dealing with a multitude of complex and difficult matters," Dr. Malcolm W. Wallace, president of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, states in his annual report.

After the last war a few men in Canada felt there was a dangerous lack of understanding of world relationships, that people in Canada knew little about other nations, and needed more information about their own, if their opinions were to contribute toward sound and democratic policies. Out of that conviction in 1928 grew the non-partisan
Canadian Institute of International Affairs. Today it has more than 1,800 members in 28 Canadian branches and works in cooperation with other research and educational bodies here and in 14 other countries.

Cities Favor Easing Liquor
Laws, Farmers Against Change

By Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

TORONTO—Rumors that provincial liquor legislation is in for important revision in some parts of Canada prompted the Gallup Poll to take another look at how the average Canadian regards his liquor legislation today.
Among other things, the survey revealed that there has been a decrease in the number of "total" abstainers in Canada, and that this decrease comes entirely from the ranks of women!
Moreover, while farmers oppose a change, big cities show a majority wanting a change.

Canadians representing all groups and types in correct proportion, were first asked, in all provinces but Quebec:

"In most provinces it is against the law to serve hard liquor in a public place like restaurants and bars. Would you like to see this law changed in any way, or not?"

QUEBEC DRINKS
EVERYWHERE

The question was not applicable in Quebec where sale of "hard" liquor is permitted in bars and restaurants.

The survey shows very strikingly that demand for a change in the liquor laws is centred in the bigger towns and cities.
Opinion shows a rising crescendo from farm to big city:

Farm	Change	No Change	Unde- cided
Under 10,000 pop.	22%	64%	14%
10,000 to 100,000 pop.	46%	32%	22%
Over 100,000	59%	28%	13%

Fitted together so as to make a picture of opinion over the country as a whole (except Quebec); these results show 42 per cent wanting a change in the liquor laws and 53 per cent opposed, with 5 per cent undecided.

The 42 per cent who said they changed were asked this further question:

"Do you think hard liquor should be sold at bars, or just with meals in restaurants or hotel dining rooms?" At bars 13 per cent, just, in restaurants or hotel dining rooms 10 per cent, both 16 per cent, qualified 1 per cent, no opinion 2 per cent.

YOUNG PEOPLE WANT
LIQUOR

Younger people, in the age group 21 to 29 years, are more in favor of changing the laws than are older people. In Ontario, where rumors about the return of bars are heard, 53 per cent of the population voted against any lowering of the bar against bars.
But here, as elsewhere, the larger cities when taken by themselves, reverse the majority.

One interesting fact revealed by the survey is that the number of people who consider themselves total abstainers has decreased slightly in the past two years or so. In May of 1943, and again today, the Institute asked a cross-section of the adult population, including Quebec:

"Do you ever have occasion to use any alcoholic beverages such as liquor, wine or beer, or are you a total abstainer?"

Here is the way the sample answered in the spring of 1943 and currently:

Use alcohol	May, 1943	Today
Total abstainers	35%	28%

WOMEN DRINKERS
INCREASE

The increase in the above figures is found entirely among women. Both in the 1943 survey, and again today, 28 per cent of the men said they were total abstainers and 72 per cent said they used alcohol. The total abstainer figure among women, however, has dropped from 55
per cent to 45 per cent!

Again, when this question was asked: "Do you think the sale of hard liquor in public places would mean more or less drunk-ness?" 80 per cent of those who want the law changed said "No"; 86 per cent of those who don't want the law changed said "Yes."

Little Damage From Night Gale Velocity 51 Miles

A southwest gale, which hit Victoria with much "gusto" at midnight, Wednesday, and reached a peak velocity of 51 miles an hour 10 minutes later, blew down a few tree branches, wobbly fences and power lines, but did not do any serious damage.

Many Victorians slept through the storm and did not realize high winds had swept the city until they talked with light sleepers last morning.

Gonzales Observatory officials said a 48 mile-an-hour wind hit the city shortly before midnight, and after reaching its peak of 54 miles an hour at 12:10, varied from 36 miles an hour to 42, to 48, to 42, until 1 in the morning. Then it dropped, blowing in light gusts until approximately 3.

No troubles were experienced at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club boat moorings, or with Brentwood sport fishing resorts. At Brentwood the wind blew in a south-easterly direction, and moorings were fairly sheltered. "Thank goodness it wasn't a southwesterly out here," one boathouse owner said. "They tear us to pieces."

ON JOB ALL NIGHT
B.C. Electric Railway Co. "trouble-shooters" were on the job all night, but reported no serious damage. A falling branch from a tree pulled down a power line on the West Saanich Road, but soon was repaired. Another line came down in the Fernwood district and was out for 20 minutes.

City firemen attended two chimney fires during the height of the gale, which they blamed on the high winds. The first was at midnight, at 316 Oswego Street, and at 12:09 another chimney blaze was put out at Johnson and Wharf Streets. City police reported street cluster lights on Johnson Street, near Douglas Street, were broken during the storm, but were not sure whether they could point an accusing finger at the gale, or whether human elements were responsible.

At Beacon Hill Park a few branches from trees were blown down, but no other damage resulted from the blow.

B.C. Telephone Company reported no trouble.

21 Properties Left On Tax Sale List

To date only nine of the 31 parcels of land being offered this year for tax sale have been disposed of. G. A. Okell, city assessor-collector, said today. The city received $4,695.07 for these properties.

Twenty-one parcels remain, with an upset price of $5,608.50, and sales will continue every morning at 10 in the city hall chamber until next Monday. Any parcels remaining at that time will be taken over by the city.

Landlords become liable for tax sale when the taxes are three years in arrears. Mr. Okell explained, and the original owner is given one year in which he may redeem the property before title passes to the new owners. Mr. Okell warned taxpayers that 1945 taxes must be paid today to avoid an additional 1 per cent penalty being added on, to bring the penalties to 3 per cent.

Battle for Soerabaja Continues Unabated; Atrocities Charged

BATAVIA (AP)—British Indian troops hammered steadily at native strongpoints in the heart of Soerabaja today, but with the pitched battle in its sixth day there was "no slackening in Indonesian resistance" anywhere in the naval base, a British announcement said.

The 123rd Indian Infantry Brigade battled into the Justice and Government buildings, formerly identified as headquarters for 15,000 Indonesian Nationalist troops. They occupied the buildings after a bitter fight against Nationalist defenders who used light automatic weapons, medium machine guns and some supporting armored vehicles.

PROPOSALS OUTLINED
While fighting continued unchecked in Soerabaja, Sultan Sjahir, youthful new premier who is pledged to attempt to end the hostilities, issued a 15-page pamphlet in Batavia, outlining his principles for the future of the Indonesians.

Sjahir deplored Japanese propaganda, which he said had taught his people to hate all foreigners.

Lloyd Morgan Trying For Council Again

Interest is growing in the aldermanic contest, as ex-alderman Lloyd Morgan announced today that he was entering the field again. He was a council member for eight years prior to his defeat in the 1944 elections, and chairman of the finance committee for seven years. During his years on the council he served as a member on practically every committee on the council roster. He is also a member of the Navy League executive.

Mr. Morgan announced a four-point program which he is prepared to push in the event of his election, including permanent rehabilitation of all ex-servicemen and women; a proper housing program; immediate action on permanent civic improvements; and an immediate start on a basic plan to place Victoria's water system in condition where ample pure water is guaranteed.

This brings to seven the number trying for the five aldermanic seats. Others who have signified their intention of entering the field are Ald. Edward Williams, Ald. T. W. Hawkins, Ald. B. J. Gadsden, ex-alderman Mrs. Margaret Christie, T. A. Creswell and David Essler.

A contest for the position of police commissioner was assured with the entry of James Foyer and Ald. D. D. McTavish, sitting member on the commission, both trying for the seat.

No opposition to Mayor Percy George has arisen yet.

Miss Isla Turk has signified her intention of running for school board, the only announced candidate to date.

15 Days in Jail For Laundry Theft

Two soldiers, Laurence J. Zuback and David Nelmes, were sentenced in city police court today to 15 days in jail, starting Nov. 10, for theft of a bundle of towels at the New Method Laundries Ltd.

Both had pleaded guilty to the charge. Samuel Sweetman, superintendent of the laundry, told the court that on Nov. 8, four men from an army truck entered the laundry to pick up orders while two others remained outside. One of these two, he said, picked up a bundle of laundry and threw it to the other, who concealed it in the truck.

Authors Hear Talk On Charles Dickens

The works of Charles Dickens entitle him to rank as the prince of all story tellers. James Morton, president of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Authors' Association, said in an address at the Union Building, Wednesday night.

"Other works are truer to life, many have better plots, but none equal Dickens in his appeal to the human heart, in his power to provoke a smile or a tear," Mr. Morton said. "The world owes him gratitude because he has shown that fine sentiment and romance can be found among the poorest as well as among the rich and great."

"Dickens brought home the comedy of life to people with characters like Micawber, and Sairy Gamp, so that their very names have become household words," said the speaker.

D. J. McLeod showed motion pictures depicting the Fraser Valley and youth farm clubs.

The Dickens Fellowship will meet in the clubrooms, Union Building, next Monday at 8. Miss Mabel Conibear of Esquimalt High School, will give an address on Great Slave Lake.

Seeks Support Here For Union Campaign On Shipbuilding

Support for the Canadian Seamen's Union campaign for 100 new and fast ships for Canada's merchant fleet is being sought by Dewar Ferguson, acting president of the union, in Victoria today to confer with labor leaders and businessmen.

Mr. Ferguson said the union was satisfied with present government operation of the Park fleet but would have no objection to operation of the Canada merchant navy by private owners, providing they operated their ships under the Canadian flag. He believed a large Canadian merchant fleet absolutely essential to Canada's postwar trade.

The only way Canada could guarantee there were no adverse freight rates placed on Canadian ports, as was the case in prewar days, was to maintain efficient operation of a Canadian merchant navy, he said.

Cutback on shipyard employment in the past year resulted in a loss of $43,000.00 in salaries and wages in B.C. shipyards alone, exclusive of subsidiary industries, Mr. Ferguson said, and pointed out the program offered by the union would do much to bring shipyard employment up again.

The union is asking that the present Park fleet of 182 ships be used as a nucleus for a Canadian fleet of some 300 ships.

The union is recommending the work on the proposed new ships be assigned to shipyards in proportion to the scale on which war contracts were let, and in consideration of the effect on the community where the shipyards are located.

During the war, some 12,000 Canadians served on deep sea with the merchant navy, the vast majority of whom intend to continue sailing, said Mr. Ferguson, who also pointed out the need for an increased fleet to accommodate employment of these men, and those who would be returning from other services to resume their work in the merchant marine.

So far, Mr. Ferguson said, he had received very favorable response from labor leaders with whom he has conferred here, and he anticipates equally favorable reception from the management at the shipyards. The cities and towns throughout Canada, he said, were supporting the union's shipping program.

Mayor in Favor Of Adding War Dates

Mayor Percy George said today that he favored the addition of the dates of World War II to the cenotaph in front of the Parliament Buildings, to make the memorial one for the fallen of both wars.

However, he said he was not prepared to be dogmatic about the matter and that the wishes of veterans' organizations and the relatives of the dead of World War I, for whom the cenotaph was erected, would have to take precedence.

Mayor George said he felt that some recognition should be given heroes of World War II, so that when Remembrance Day ceremonies are held the prayers and thanksgiving services could be for all who gave their lives. The one cenotaph could properly be made symbolic for all who died in war, he thought.

Final Ballot Count Under Way Here

Final count of votes cast in the three-member Victoria constituency in the Oct. 25 provincial general election will not be completed until Friday, it was learned today at the office of H. E. Courtney, returning officer.

Mr. Courtney and his assistants began tabulating the count today and at noon they had counted the ballots in 65 polls. There are a total of 104 polls.

After tabulating the individual polls, the officers will count the registered and unregistered service votes.

Unofficial reports said there had been only slight change in the polls counted up to noon. No changes in the official from the unofficial count indicated that final tabulation could possibly change the members' standings.

Elections Oct. 25 in Victoria chose Premier John Hart, Mrs. Nancy Hodges and W. T. Strath, K.C., as their representatives. They are all Coalitionists.

In Oak Bay the service vote, both registered and unregistered, gave Works Minister Herbert Anscomb, Coalitionist, 114 soldier votes, while the C.C.F. opponent, Mrs. Claire McAllister secured 15 votes.

In Esquimalt Bert Thomas, returning officer was continuing the count at noon. Result of the final count was not available. Cmdr. C. T. Beard, Coalitionist, was elected there.

The final count in Saanich will be made Friday.

Walter Walker For Oak Bay Reeveship

Councillor Walter M. Walker has announced his intention to run for the reeveship of Oak Bay. He has been a member of the Oak Bay Council since 1941, and prior to that was a member of the Oak Bay School Board, from 1933 to 1940.

Reeve W. L. Woodhouse, who has been reeve in Oak Bay since 1941, stated today that he would definitely retire from the field. He made an attempt last year to retire, but was persuaded to continue in office for another year.

He served as a council member for four years prior to taking on the duties as reeve.

Two of the councillors whose terms of office expire this year, P. Moir and J. V. Johnson, have both signified their intention of running for election again. Councillor Johnson has been in office since 1934, and Councillor Moir since 1943.

Councillor Alex Peden, the other retiring member of the council, has made no announcement of his intentions to date.

It will be necessary for Councillor Walker to resign from the council with one year still to go, in order to run for reeve.

Frank Turley, who was defeated as councillor last year, is rumored as a possible entry in the field, although he has not made any announcement to date.

Apoplexy Caused Death, Jury Finds

Death from natural causes was the verdict of a coroner's jury here today inquiring into the death of Chan Young at Royal Jubilee Hospital early Monday morning after he was found lying on Government Street near Fisgard. Police believed he had been struck by an automobile while crossing Government Street.

Dr. Ross McNeely, Jubilee pathologist, told the jury he had conducted a post-mortem on Chan Young. On cutting into the brain he had discovered evidence of bleeding and softening which he estimated had taken place a month before. Dr. McNeely said it was a typical case of apoplexy, rather than violence.

Joe Foo said he had been trying to cross the street at the time and had seen a sedan striking the man. He had waved at the car but the driver had failed to stop.

Robert Brunton told the jury he had been driving a station wagon on Government Street at the time but had not associated his car with the accident. He had phoned the police station on his arrival home to get details and had been told to come to the station. He estimated he was traveling 15 miles an hour.

Annie O'Connell, a passenger in Burton's car, said the door beside her had opened and in closing it she had seen Chan Young lying on the street. She was sure the door had not struck anyone.

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, presided. Jury members were H. B. Halliday, K. Davis, D. Arthur, K. E. Rayner, A. Gieskiw, D. E. Meredith, H. L. Briggs.

No report was available today from H. C. Hughes, provincial mines department inspector stationed at Nelson, who has been asked by Dr. J. W. Walker, deputy mines minister, to investigate reports of an active volcano in the Sheep Creek area. Dr. Walker had wired Mr. Hughes but as yet he has received no reply. It is possible that Mr. Hughes, away on some other project, has not yet received the wire to investigate the reports.

Russians Hand Over Manchurian Lines

CHUNGKING (AP)—Russians, scheduled to withdraw soon from Manchuria, already have handed over postal and telegraphic services of Changchun, Manchurian capital, to Chinese authorities, an official dispatch reported today.

The transfer of control was made under an agreement permitting Russian use of the facilities until their withdrawal, the dispatch said.

The Chinese government some time ago was notified the Russians would be out of Manchuria by Dec. 1.

At Tsingtao, meanwhile, Chinese Communists were reported moving to block a Nationalist relief force headed for violence-dotted Shantung Province, and far to the south street fighting flared as Communists attacked the highway centre of Tsaoyang, 145 miles northwest of Hankow.

Associated Press correspondent Richard Bergholz said Communist forces driving to keep Nationalists from Shantung had struck less than 12 hours after the Chinese Nationalist 8th Army had begun landing from U.S. transports at the marine-guarded port of Tsingtao.

Situation In Manchuria, North China Continues On Hair-Trigger

PEIPING (AP)—Three months after Japan's capitulation, the situation in north China and Manchuria is described politely as "delicate."

Chinese Communist and Nationalist forces jockey for position and occasionally clash for control of territory which belongs no longer to a foreign enemy.

Thus far the Chinese civil strife has been more a battle of wits and manoeuvre, more a paper offensive of rumors and reports than actual pitched engagements.

But all elements of a long and bloody campaign are here. The Communists, who have a strong hold on the provinces, feel they must fight to survive. Central government forces feel they must exterminate all obstacles in the path of a unified China. How far these two forces will go in settling their differences by arms depends on negotiators who will meet in Chungking Nov. 20.

It is evident the Communists seized the initiative and had their armies in motion before the Nationalist troops were fully deployed to the north. Destruction of vital links in every major rail corridor for the service have a strong hold on negotiators who will meet in Chungking Nov. 20.

Observers believe the conciliation meeting in Chungking next Tuesday, with orders given on both sides to cease fire and withdraw from the under police protection, will be the last opportunity to settle China's largest problem without a showdown battle.

Abolish Key Post In Japan As Start In Democratization

TOKYO (AP)—Abolition of the key position, Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal, but retention of the remainder of the cumbersome inner circle around the Emperor was reported today by the newspaper Asahi as the current plan for "democratization" of the Japanese throne.

The newspaper said the plan had resulted from conferences of representatives of the cabinet, the Privy Seal, the Imperial Household Ministry, the Privy Council and senior statesmen seeking a method of keeping pace with prospective revision of the constitution.

"The plan will be effected 'at an appropriate opportunity,'" the Asahi reported. Its only concession to prospective party government is inclusion of the president of both Houses of the Diet on a board to participate in the selection of new premiers.

The newspaper recently reported that Marquis Koichi Kido, current Keeper of the Privy Seal and maker and breaker of premiers, planned to resign soon.

A limited, streamlined imperial clique, the Asahi said, would replace the present system whereby the Privy Seal is the principal adviser of the Emperor and the most powerful individual in the Empire. The Emperor would be advised by the Grand Chamberlain, the Imperial Household Minister and the President of the Privy Council.

At cabinet changes, new premiers would be recommended by the Presidents of the Privy Council and both Houses of the Diet.

Japan's House of Representatives, as well as the imperial system, may be up for reorganization soon, the Kyodo News Agency forecast today. It predicted "heated discussion" of election-law revision during the Nov. 26 Diet session, which may radically alter the House of Representatives organization.

And Now You Can Throw Your Piano

Husbands whose better halves delight in having the furniture arranged at frequent intervals will get a break with a new aluminum piano, at least 80 pounds lighter than its most featherweight predecessor. It can be moved by the average housewife, and if madam thinks it would look better in the salon than in the music room, she can push it there herself. Although this particular use of aluminum has not yet been adopted in Canada, there are plenty of new articles in the process of manufacture, including aluminum houses, canoes, furniture, fishing tackle and cooking utensils.

Troller Ashore, Minus Crew of 2

NEWPORT, Ore. (AP)—The troller Uina of Newport was washed ashore Wednesday half a mile south of Oysterville, Wash., without her two-man crew aboard, the coast guard reported. The boat left Newport Saturday for Westport. Coast guard officials began a search when she failed to reach her destination. No trace of Skipper Paul Seiffert, Newport, or Tony Shell, Toledo, Ore., has been found.

COLD GOT YOU ALL STUFFED-UP?

Do This Quick for Relief!

If you are sneezing and sniffling from a cold... all stuffed-up, with your nose and throat raw and sore—combat this distress, as thousands do, by gargling with new Pepsodent Antiseptic.

The reason it's recommended is this: Standard laboratory tests prove new Pepsodent Antiseptic kills millions of germs that go with colds. The very type of germs that many medical authorities say often heighten the misery and prolong the effects of a cold.

Isn't it only common sense then, to gargle with new Pepsodent Antiseptic at first sign of a cold! What better way to combat millions of germs that swarm on mouth and throat surfaces as far back as you can reach... back where illness often strikes first!

So treat a cold this sensible way: Get plenty of rest, avoid exposure, dress warmly, drink plenty of liquids... and gargle frequently with new Pepsodent Antiseptic. See if you don't relieve discomfort almost at once!

JOHN SNYDER
DEBATE

The DOCTOR Says:

PATIENCE IS KEY IN TEACHING 'SLOW' CHILD

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Children do new things each day partly because they are growing up and partly because someone is teaching them. But some children's minds grow so slowly that they never can go to school, or if they go to school, they cannot keep up with other children their age.

A State Division of Public Institutions has just issued a practical guide for parents of retarded or very slow children. It is unfortunate that everyone does not understand them, as their main difficulty is slowness in learning; most of these children have normal parents, and normal brothers and sisters.

LOVE IS IMPORTANT
Very slow children learn best if they are loved and wanted at home and are included in things the family does. They often are rejected by the family and especially the neighbors. They will learn a thing only when their minds are developed enough. If they are stubborn or refuse the task, it is probably too hard for them.

Authorities point out that it is easier to teach them if they are watching and listening when you speak to them. Repeat often. A little practice each time is best. Keep to a routine. This regularity will help them know when they are to do such things as wash their face, eat dinner, and go to bed.

Show them how to do a thing rather than just tell them. You have to show them many times. Help them only when they need it. It may take longer but it is the only way they can learn. Have them finish and let them know you are pleased when they have done well.

DON'T MIX ORDERS

The very slow child needs a great deal of praise in the beginning. Relax and have patience. Work on one thing at a time, as you may mix them up if you give two orders at the same time. Very slow children need special discipline. Scolding, nagging, threats and warnings do no good because they cannot understand. Otherwise they should be disciplined the same as other children. Very slow children respond well to the reward system.

In teaching the very slow child, the mother should establish a routine of special instruction. A half hour at the same time each day should be spent with him and when each day's lesson is finished his things should be put away. Very slow children should not start to school until they are able to take care of themselves, speak so others can understand them, play with other children, and be able to profit from further instruction.

HADRIAN BUILT HUGE TOMB FOR ROYAL USE

If you made a visit to Rome, someone might point out to you the Castle of St. Angelo. Before you would be a building of huge size.

If a guide was speaking to you, he might go on to say: "That building dates back 1,815 years. People also speak of it as Hadrian's Tomb. It was built for the Emperor Hadrian seven years before he died." Hadrian's Tomb is a rounded tower, which is nearly twice as wide as it is high. The width is 230 feet. The tower rests on a platform about 300 feet square. Such a building surely seems too large to hold the remains of one man, and Hadrian planned it for others besides himself. It was made the resting place of later emperors and their children, as well as for Hadrian.

During the Middle Ages, Hadrian's Tomb was turned into a fortress. For hundreds of years it was used as a stronghold by soldiers of the Pope. Pope Gregory the Great gave it the name of the Castle of St. Angelo.

The REMAINS OF HADRIAN'S TOMB, on the TIBER RIVER at ROME, are now known as the CASTLE OF ST. ANGELO

That tomb was only one of the important buildings which went up by order of Hadrian. Most famous of them all, perhaps, was the Pantheon.

The Pantheon reared by Hadrian stands today. A hundred and fifty years before, another Pantheon of oblong shape, had been built, but its place was taken in the time of Hadrian by the circular building.

The Pantheon of Hadrian has a dome 144 feet in diameter. Made of brick, it has proved sturdy enough to last down through the centuries. It was a place where Romans could pray to "all the gods." In the year 609, it was dedicated as a Christian church.

Other temples were built in Rome by order of Hadrian. These honored the goddess Venus and the god Neptune.

The emperor kept his love for Greece all through his life. He caused several fine buildings to be erected at Athens, the Greek capital. Most famous of these was the Temple of the Olympian Zeus.

At Least 11 Killed In Brussels Crash

BRUSSELS (AP)—At least 11 persons, three of them women, were killed near here today in the crash of an R.A.F. Stirling bomber.

A blind-folded skull was found nearby.

A medical examination showed the victim had been beheaded by multiple blows of a sword. Other human bones and skulls recovered from deep graves nearby bore evidence of beheadings.

The walls of the cells are still covered with bloodstains and one dying airman scratched in blood on one wall, "God be with me, mother."

Dominion to Show 'Junior Miss' Friday

"Junior Miss," the 20th Century-Fox film version of the Broadway stage sensation that drew record audiences for two straight years, opens Friday at the Dominion Theatre with Peggy Ann Garner who, in her first starring role of Judy, the madcap, lovable and highly imaginative junior miss, turns in a performance that matches in a refreshingly different manner her triumph in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn." This, together with the brilliant performances of Allyn Joslyn, Michael Dunne, Faye Marlowe and Mona Freeman in supporting roles, makes for one of the brightest, gayest, snappiest comedies of the season.

Noel Coward's cavalcade of a new generation technicolor picture entitled "This Happy Breed" is opening at the York Theatre today.

This picture is the brilliant successor to the 1932 success, "Cavalcade," Noel Coward, the author of "Blithe Spirit," "Tonight at 8.30," "Bittersweet," and other successes of the English stage, sends us one of his best, together with his matchless technique and a story of life and love that will bring sunshine into the hearts of humanity.

England's greatest comedian, Stanley Holloway, and England's greatest dramatic actor, Robert Newton, head the cast. Robert Newton acted for three years the part of Oscar Wilde on the British stage.

Jack Carson Stars In Cadet Showing

With its theme both timely and funny, Warner Bros. newest comedy, "Make Your Own Bed," comes to the Cadet Theatre today. The subject, of course, is the shortage of domestic help so much in evidence since the start of the war. And, to tell their story, the astute Warner Bros. have enlisted the services of a triumvirate of fresh and energetic comedians—namely, Jack Carson, Jane Wyman and Irene Manning. The result promises to be one of the wackiest efforts of the season.

PLAZA THEATRE

"Bedside Manner," currently showing at the Plaza Theatre, is a sparkling new Andrew Stone comedy in which John Carroll has never played his particular role before. But the handsome six-foot actor calls his part in this United Artists release a repeat. He's supposed to be a test pilot who crashes a plane. Oddly enough, it was a plane crash which recently resulted in John's medical discharge from the army air forces.

For the past two years, ex-Lieutenant Carroll has served overseas in the Fourth Fighter Command as an aide to General Edward Morris.

ATLAS THEATRE

Packed with authentic details of the remarkable fight for freedom put up by the people of the Philippines against the Jap invaders, RKO Radio's "Back to Bataan," now at the Atlas Theatre, stars John Wayne in a stirring drama of the islands. Edward Dmytryk directed.

Three Island Fliers Awarded D.F.C. For Fighting Courage

Three Victoria and island R.C. A.F. officers, including Sqdn. Ldr. W. J. Smith, above, have been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, air force headquarters in Ottawa announced today.

The other two officers receiving the award for services rendered overseas are Flt. Lt. R. V. Best, son of Capt. and Mrs. V. C. Best, The Alders, Ganges, and Flt. Lt. T. S. Forbes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Forbes, Saanichton. Sqdn. Ldr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith, 1584 Hampshire Road.

"Sqdn. Ldr. Smith has completed a large number of sorties during a tour of operations," the citation accompanying his award says. "He has always displayed a fine fighting spirit which was well demonstrated during an attack against Magdeburg in January, 1945."

The citation tells how the Victoria pilot pressed home a successful attack against the target although failure of two engines prevented him from reaching Magdeburg at the time and height planned.

"As a flight commander," the citation says, "Sqdn. Ldr. Smith has displayed outstanding leadership and devotion to duty of the highest order."

COURAGEOUS PILOT

Flt. Lt. Best, his citation says, proved to be a most courageous and skilful pilot and captain of aircraft.

"In January, 1945, he was detailed for an attack against Ludwigshafen," says the citation. "On approaching the target his aircraft was subjected to intense anti-aircraft fire. Although his aircraft was hit, Flt. Lt. Best pressed home his attack."

Flt. Lt. Forbes also is commended for his fine fighting spirit and outstanding devotion to duty.

His citation relates how on one occasion during an attack on Potsdam, with the starboard engine of his aircraft already unserviceable, the starboard wing and fuel pipelines were severely damaged.

"Undeterred, this officer completed his mission with excellent results," the citation says. It states that he has completed numerous sorties against some of the most distant and heavily defended targets in Germany and the occupied countries.

Darts Take Place Among Major Sports

LONDON (CP)—The war brought new respectability to the game of darts, which goes with beer in almost every pub.

It was moved from the public bar to the more expensive saloon bar; raised £250,000 for war charities, and there is even a hint that darts results will soon be carried in the dignified sports columns of the London Times.

The experts aren't sure where or when the first sharp-pointed projectile was heaved at a crude target.

The modern game cannot be traced beyond 1856, when darts was played at Sheffield, but now there are hundreds of thousands of players in Britain, and Canadian servicemen have taken the game back to Canada.

The last national darts championship in 1939 drew 250,000 entries, and the sponsor claims there would be 500,000 competitors if one could be held at present. A shortage of 1,500 gold medals and 60 cups for the winners is the snag which holds up the competition.

Harry Baker, who arranged the national championships for the London weekly, News of the World, says the latest development in the game is a new dart, not yet on the market, with the usual metal point and grip, but with a shaft and "feathers," or flights, cast in one-piece plastic.

The point may be unscrewed and reversed, and the dart carried unprotected in a pocket, and the flexible plastic "feathers" survive rough handling, which would make feather or paper flights unserviceable.

Anglican Church To Spend $4,500,000

LONDON (CP)—A £1,000,000 ($4,500,000) publicity program was adopted unanimously Wednesday by the Church of England Assembly, after a warning from Rt. Rev. C. M. Chavasse, Bishop of Rochester, that the clergy's "spiritual anemia" had left half of Britain "worse than heathens."

Calling for a revival of religious life, a 172-page report submitted to the Assembly by a committee on Evangelism recommended a "missionary invasion of the modern agencies of propaganda," in a five-year publicity program.

Money to meet the advertising costs, the report said, "would be a matter for prayer and careful consideration from all points of view."

Quebec Battling 'Blind Pig' Racket

MONTREAL (CP)—Two former R.C.M.P. officers have been taken on strength of the Quebec Liquor Commission police in an effort to crack down on "blind pigs" operating in the Montreal district, and to break up a protection racket in which "salesmen" have used the names of police officers to collect sums of money from operators of the "blind pigs."

Many police raids on the liquor dens have failed because operators were tipped off in advance of the raids, and already several members of the force have been suspended.

While no official statement has been issued on the sale of protection to the operators, it was
